

REDS' CHIEF YIELDS A LITTLE

—NEHRU ASSUMES NEAR-DICTATORIAL POWERS—

India Proclaims Emergency

New Delhi, India (AP) — India proclaimed an emergency Friday night, with Prime Minister Nehru assuming near-dictatorial powers in the fight against Chinese Communists driving across the Himalayan frontier.

India women were asked to give up gold ornaments so the government can buy weapons abroad with the proceeds.

President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan gave the government extraordinary powers in this nation of 457 million persons — including the right to curb freedom of speech and the courts, and to take over complete rule in any of India's 15 states.

Invading Nehru charged the Chinese with invading India — rather than just provoking border clashes — along 2,500 disputed miles of Himalayan frontier. But he stopped short of declaring a war. The Chinese and Indians both claim various border areas.

Authoritative sources said that despite its cherished neutrality, India is on the verge of accepting military aid, probably from Britain and the United States. The Soviet Union has dashed Indian hopes that it would dissuade Red China from further military ventures.

India needs more modern arms and lacks cash. When members of parliament asked Nehru Thursday about getting weapons from other nations for cash or on credit, the prime minister reportedly answered that if any nation wants to help, it can do so.

Ready To Aid Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan indicated that Britain is ready to supply arms. The sources said the Nehru government also would approach the United States for aid.

The neutralist Indian leader declared in a speech to students that he did not want formally to declare war because of the possible consequences — indicating fear of bombing in rear areas.

"We want to keep it (the fighting) in that local area" of the northeast and the northwest, Nehru said.

Compulsory

He also told the Delhi University students he was considering compulsory military training to instill discipline. In fighting the Chinese, he added, India had the disadvantage of long training under Mohandas K. Gandhi in nonviolence. To student applause, he added: "democracy moves slowly but it is the correct path and wins finally."

Indian forces claimed they beat off two Chinese attacks in stiffening resistance along the flaming frontier but acknowledged further retreats.

Fighting raged for the seventh day. The communists were said to be taking no prisoners. The Indians have admitted suffering heavy casualties — without giving any figures — but claimed they were dealing costlier blows to the Communists.

Reach Walong

A defense ministry spokesman said Chinese troops who captured Kibitoo near the Burma border had reached Walong in the Lohit river valley.

Two concerted attacks were made by the Chinese against our positions but both were repulsed with heavy casualties," he said.

For the Indians this was the only optimistic report from the disputed frontier extending from Kashmir to Tibet.

The Indians said the Chinese had driven 15 miles inside their territory on the northeastern border.

Nehru Sends Kennedy Note On Problems

Washington (UPI) — President Kennedy Friday received a message from Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India dealing with current international problems including the Red Chinese border aggression against India.

The message was delivered by Indian Ambassador B. K. Nehru who met with Kennedy for 40 minutes. The ambassador would not go into details but said "naturally, it related to current affairs of which our difficulties are a part."

The envoy said he had discussed the contents of the note with Kennedy during their session in the chief executive's office. He would not go into whether India had asked for U.S. assistance in its current conflict with China.

A State Department spokesman said earlier that the government would "give sympathetic consideration to any Indian request for American military supplies."

Roads Department Asks Budget Hike

... Lincoln Office Building Included

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

The State Highway Department Friday submitted a 1963-65 budget request for $149,456,531, an increase of $18,112,202 over the department's estimated expenditures for the current biennium.

The Highway Department receives no property tax-supported general fund monies, deriving all of its revenue from cash sources — more than half of it in federal funds for highway building.

Included in the request are funds to construct 3 new buildings for the department: a general office building at 14th and Burnham in Lincoln for $1,850,000 (with $1,350,000 of the cost to be carried over to the next biennium); an Interstate maintenance shop at 1st and Superior in Lincoln, and a similar building in Omaha at 108th and L.

Each of the latter buildings would cost an estimated $150,000 with $50,000 of each to be carried over to the next biennium.

State Engineer John Hosack noted that the department has never received any general fund appropriations, but suggested that consideration might be given to using such monies for construction

Teachers At Convention Hear Of New Ideas, Methods

By GERRY WRIGHT
Star Staff Writer

Sectional meetings emphasizing new ideas and methods in education highlighted the final sessions Friday of the District I meeting of the Nebraska State Education Association.

Session speakers emphasized to the 3,570 southeast Nebraska teachers that today's teacher holds the key to the future of America's democratic society.

Recognition of individual differences in learning, keeping abreast with new developments within their fields and experimenting with these ideas were particularly emphasized.

New English Course C. J. Simpson, instructor at Omaha Central High School, emphasized to English teachers the importance of familiarizing themselves with the new literature-centered English program for secondary schools.

He pointed out that it is "too easy" to say that this type of thing is impossible in "my school" with limited library facilities, budget, time, etc.

However, every teacher can avail himself of ideas set forth in English publications and utilize paperbacks which may be purchased for a nominal fee, he said.

Richmond Elected Cecil Richmond of Beatrice was elected president of the English teachers, succeeding Vance Hansen.

Other new officers are Mrs. Genevieve Bredenburg of Lincoln, vice president, and Mrs. Barbara Kos of Lincoln, secretary-treasurer.

The pros and cons of various grading systems in typing and the possibilities of offering the skill to junior high students were discussed at the sectional meeting of the business education teachers.

Mrs. Marie Galloway of Lincoln was elected president, succeeding Mrs. Judith Otto. Kenneth Hanson of Lincoln was named vice president, and Anna Becker of Nelson was elected secretary-treasurer.

John Johnson of Crete was elected chairman of the school administrators, after the 58 members who were present heard an address on administrative problems by Dr. Samuel M. Brownell, superintendent of public schools in Detroit, Mich.

Hong Kong (UPI) — Cholera patient is dying in Chinese Communist hospitals because of an acute shortage of medicines, the newspaper Hong Kong Standard reported.

A GOOD SIGN . . . Mayor Ludi at Placek Park.

Placek Park Plugging Wahoo Recreation Gap

By GENE BUDIG
Outstate Nebraska Bureau
Wahoo—A major recreational gap will be plugged here soon.

Mayor Tom Ludi announced that Placek Park is nearing completion.

"This addition will give Wahoo twice its present park space," he says. "Obviously, the situation has been very sad in the past."

Ludi reports that the City Park, named after J. G. Smith, was usually jammed with picnic traffic by noon during the summer months.

Sit On Tables "The only way to get a table," he continues, "was to send somebody hours early to sit on one. This became common practice."

With a sigh of relief, the mayor now envisions: —an end to the Smith Park mob scene.

Placek Praised Ludi lauds Bill Placek, the city's unpaid park commissioner, as "the guy who took charge of the problem."

He took the bull by the horns 3 years ago, while serving on the city council. "Something had to be done and I was interested," Placek says.

of these items is considered offensive war material. Several hours after the successful boarding, the White House pointedly declared that there had been no evidence of any intention on the part of the Russians to heed President Kennedy's demand that missile bases in Cuba be dismantled.

"On the contrary," it said, "the Soviets are rapidly continuing their construction of missile support and launch facilities and serious attempts are under way to camouflage their efforts."

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger declined to reveal any steps that might be taken against the buildup. But the Army was rolling mighty forces into Key West, Fla., including semi-trailer trucks marked "explosive."

First Boarding The White House and State Department statements came after U.S. blockade forces boarded and released after search a Soviet-chartered ship sailing toward Cuba—the first boarding during the two-day blockade.

The 7,628-ton freighter Maruca of Lebanese registry, and presumably Panama owned, was halted in the Atlantic about 500 miles northeast of Havana. It was searched by an armed boarding party and allowed to pass through the U.S. blockade when no prohibited weapons were found.

The freighter, cooperating in the search, was boarded by men from the destroyer named after the President's dead war hero brother, and the Pierce, which on May 24 picked up astronaut M. Scott Carpenter's space capsule.

Ship Cleared After a 3-hour search, the vessel was cleared to continue toward Havana with its cargo of trucks, truck parts, paper rolls and sulphur. None

U.S. Standing Firm On Cuba

Russ Ships To Shun Blockade Temporarily; America Will Try To Avoid Clash

United Nations (UPI)—Russia Friday night agreed to keep its Cuba-bound ships out of the U.S. blockade temporarily. The United States in turn pledged to try to avoid a clash with the Red ships, but pressed its demand that Soviet missiles be removed from Cuba.

The new statements of position from President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev came in replies to appeals sent the cold war leaders the previous night by Acting U.N. Secretary General Thant.

Khrushchev informed the United Nations that he had "ordered the masters of Soviet vessels bound for Cuba but not yet within the area of the American warships' piratical activities to stay out of the interception area."

Kennedy said the United States will "do everything possible to avoid a direct confrontation with Soviet ships in the next few days in order to minimize the risk of any untoward incident" as requested by Thant.

Determined Note But Kennedy added a determined note in his message to Thant, saying: "I share your hope that Chairman Khrushchev will also heed your appeal and that we can then proceed urgently to meet the requirements that these offensive military systems in Cuba be withdrawn, in order to end their threat to peace."

"I must point out to you that present work on these systems is still continuing." Shortly after 9 p.m. Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin left Thant's office after 2½ hours — his second conference of the day with the acting secretary general, who also met Friday with U.S. and Cuban envoys.

Brushing past newsmen who asked what took so much time on the 38th floor, Zorin snapped in Russian: "If you want to know, read the message of Chairman Khrushchev."

Only Temporary Khrushchev's reply to Thant added: "But we have given this order in the hope that the other side will understand that such a situation, in which we keep vessels immobilized on the high seas, must be a purely temporary one; the period cannot under any circumstances be of long duration."

Kennedy replied: "If the Soviet government accepts and abides by your request 'that Soviet ships already on their way to Cuba . . . stay away from the interception area' for the limited time required for preliminary discussion, you may be assured that this government will accept and abide by your request that our vessels in the Caribbean 'do everything possible' to avoid direct confrontation with Soviet ships in the next few days in order to minimize the risk of any untoward incident."

Great Urgency Kennedy added: "I must inform you, however, that this is a matter of great urgency in view of the fact that certain Soviet ships are still proceeding toward Cuba and the interception area."

Kennedy's reply was delivered to Thant by U.S. ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson. Khrushchev's apparently was sent direct from Moscow.

U.S. Threatens Action Against Missile Bases, Boards Ship Headed for Cuba

Washington (UPI) — The United States cracked down with its blockade of Cuba Friday by actually boarding a Soviet-chartered ship and served notice that further action—possibly military—will be taken against missile bases being built on the island.

In a late afternoon statement, the White House said the Russians were building missile bases at a furious pace, with attempts at camouflage. It said the Soviets apparently were working feverishly to get 2,200-mile missiles fully operable as soon as possible.

At the same time, the State Department served notice that "further action" may be taken against the bases. A spokesman made it clear he was referring to possibly military action when he said "specific further steps" did not fall in his domain.

First Boarding The White House and State Department statements came after U.S. blockade forces boarded and released after search a Soviet-chartered ship sailing toward Cuba—the first boarding during the two-day blockade.

The 7,628-ton freighter Maruca of Lebanese registry, and presumably Panama owned, was halted in the Atlantic about 500 miles northeast of Havana. It was searched by an armed boarding party and allowed to pass through the U.S. blockade when no prohibited weapons were found.

The freighter, cooperating in the search, was boarded by men from the destroyer named after the President's dead war hero brother, and the Pierce, which on May 24 picked up astronaut M. Scott Carpenter's space capsule.

Ship Cleared After a 3-hour search, the vessel was cleared to continue toward Havana with its cargo of trucks, truck parts, paper rolls and sulphur. None of these items is considered offensive war material. Several hours after the successful boarding, the White House pointedly declared that there had been no evidence of any intention on the part of the Russians to heed President Kennedy's demand that missile bases in Cuba be dismantled.

And at the State Department, spokesman Lincoln White drew attention to President Kennedy's Monday night warning that should "offensive military preparations in Cuba continue, thus increasing the threat to the hemisphere, further action will be justified."

White told a news briefing he wanted to emphasize the significance of the President's statement and to cite "the gravity of the situation." All indications pointed to some action soon against the missile sites.

Full Capacity "The activity at these sites apparently is directed at achieving a full operational capacity as soon as possible," the White House statement said.

The first boarding incident In fair and cool weather, the Joseph P. Kennedy pulled alongside the vessel, signalled her to stop and simultaneously put a boarding party in a whaleboat. The cargo ship put a rope ladder over the side to let the boarding party from the Kennedy and Pierce come aboard.

Shortly afterward the boarding party reported back: "Party aboard Maruca. Cooperation good. No difficulties expected."

Later the Kennedy messaged Washington that the boarding party had returned. The message said: "No incidents. No prohibited material in evidence. All papers in order. Obtained copy of manifest. Cargo, 12 trucks deck-loaded. All holds loaded to capacity. No passengers. Maruca clear to proceed, course 260 (10 degrees south of west). Speed 9 knots to Havana by Providence Channel. Maintaining surveillance."

Nik May Still Visit U.S.

Washington (AP)—An American businessman who talked to Premier Khrushchev two days ago reported Friday the Soviet leader said he still is considering coming to the United States before the end of this year.

William E. Knox, president of Westinghouse International Electric, reported this to newsmen Friday after giving Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other State Department officials an account of his 3¼-hour meeting with Khrushchev Wednesday.

Knox said he feels that Khrushchev understands the U.S. government's seriousness about ending the offensive arms buildup in Cuba. But the industrialist said it is "difficult to answer" whether Khrushchev seems willing to pursue a reasonable course in the Cuban affair.

Asked whether Khrushchev is still considering coming to the United States before the end of the year, as had been reported before the outbreak of the Cuban crisis, Knox replied: "There's no question but he has been considering it, but I do not know what he will decide . . . he said he had been considering it and was still considering it."

Kremlin Steps Up Anti-U.S. Propaganda

AMERICAN DOCUMENT IS SPURNED

...Travel Restrictions

By PRESTON GROVER
Moscow (AP) — While the Kremlin pumped a stream of anti-American propaganda across Russia, the Foreign Ministry spurned one more U.S. official note Friday on the American naval quarantine of Cuba. Yet, U.S. diplomats reported a tone of friendliness in contacts with Russian officials.

Although correct personally in dealings with Americans here, Soviet officials were colder in their diplomatic actions. In addition to rejecting the third official American document on the Cuban crisis, Soviet officials apparently imposed restrictions on travel outside Moscow by Western diplomats.

Addition to First Note
What the Foreign Ministry sent back to the U.S. embassy was an addition to a note previously returned concerning control orders governing the Navy quarantine of offensive weapons to Cuba. The new note put rocket fuel on the list of material falling under the ban. The first Russian turn-back was President Kennedy's proclamation of the naval quarantine.

When a note is sent back in this manner it amounts to a rejection. But the diplomatic atmosphere in which it was done appeared relaxed.

American officials, reporting the restrictions on movements of Western diplomats in the Soviet Union, said U.S. officials who were in Tbilisi, Leningrad and Kiev were ordered to return to Moscow. However, an embassy officer accompanying the Robert Shaw Chorale was allowed to continue the tour.

No Explanation
The travel order apparently was issued Tuesday but embassies contacted said they were at a loss for the reason. One diplomat said his order to return to Moscow listed "temporary reasons."

In Washington, officials said the administration was considering what retaliatory measures to take on any travel restrictions. In a message to the State Department Tuesday the U.S. Embassy in Moscow said it probably would be premature to call the restrictions a ban on travel. Travel of Soviet diplomats in the United States and American envoys in the Soviet Union has been on a tit-for-tat basis for years because of Soviet restrictions imposed after World War II.)

Another Titan 2 Shot Successful

Cape Canaveral, Fla. (AP) — With the Space Agency's 9 new astronauts looking on, a powerful Titan 2 missile blasted off Friday on a successful 5,000-mile test flight.

The air force announced the 103-foot rocket performed as planned in racing to a target area in the south Atlantic Ocean. Major objectives were further evaluation of propulsion, guidance, warhead and other systems.

Titan 2 later will boost the Gemini and Dyna-Soar manned spacecraft starting in 1964.

Meanwhile, the launching of the Explorer 15 satellite was postponed from Friday until Saturday to permit more time to check out the control system in the first stage of the Thor-Delta rocket.

Cost Of Living Up

...Biggest Monthly Rise In 4 Years

Washington (AP) — Higher meat prices and several seasonal factors sent the cost of living soaring six-tenths of 1% during September, the highest monthly rise in more than 4 years.

However, Commissioner Ewan Clague of the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said Friday wholesale meat prices began to drop as soon as Midwestern farmers ended their withholding action and began sending meat animals back to market.

Clague said the September increase in the bureau's consumer price index did not signal any new round of inflation. He added he doubted that the crisis over Cuba would have any significant effect on prices unless war actually developed.

Instead of a shortage of food and consumer goods which might result in hoarding or desperation buying, Clague said, "there is oversupply in almost all areas." The index climbed to a new high in July, remained the same during August and then jumped to 106.1% of the 1957-59 average during September.

This means the purchasing value of the dollar has shrunk by slightly more than 6 cents since the base period.

Margaret's Mate Getting A Checkup

London (AP) — The Earl of Snowdon, Princess Margaret's husband, entered the National Hospital Friday for what was described as a routine checkup.

He is being attended by Queen Elizabeth's doctor, Lord Evans, and by Dr. Denis Williams.

The full name of the hospital is the National Hospital for Nervous Diseases, but it is usually just called the National Hospital.

Dr. Williams is one of Britain's most famous neurologists and psychiatrists.

Storms Hit Northeast

...FOOT OF SNOW

By The Associated Press
Autumn storms hurled up to a foot of snow on sections of the wintry Northeast Friday, slowing or stopping traffic in some areas.

One of the coldest masses of polar air ever felt in October broke many long standing temperature records east of the Mississippi River.

The big snow concentrated on the northeastern quarter of the nation, extending from Indiana and Michigan to the Atlantic states. It attained midwinter magnitude in many parts of the storm zone.

Heavy In Ohio
Up to a foot of snow was on the ground in northeastern Ohio — and another half foot was expected. Buses were up to 3 hours late and planes fell behind schedule.

U.S. 21, the main route between Cleveland and Akron, was blocked early Friday while 2,000 to 3,000 vehicles were on the road. Snow removal equipment was trapped in the snarl.

West Virginia's road commission reported 10 to 12 inches of snow on the ground in Pendleton and Randolph Counties.

Skies began to clear in the western half of the Midwest after piling snow in Michigan that measured 11 inches in Cassopolis, 8 in Van Buren and Paw Paw and 4 in Allegan.

Up to 10 inches of snow fell in southwestern New York. New York City had its first snow of the season.

Public's Visits To Navy Ships Halted

Washington (AP) — Adm. George W. Anderson Jr., chief of naval operations, Friday ordered a halt to public visits to Navy ships "to prevent any possible impairment of ships' readiness for sea." The halt cancels any citizen inspection of vessels scheduled for Saturday, Navy Day.

Special Session Reports Denied

Washington (AP) — White House Secretary Pierre Salinger said Friday reports that Congress would be called into special session are unfounded.

Rumors about a special session have floated around Capitol Hill since the Cuban crisis began.

The White House was flooded with calls from members of Congress, and Salinger called an informal, quick briefing in the White House lobby to say:

"The President has not called the congressional leadership back for a meeting nor has there been any consideration or discussions of a special session of Congress. I just want to make that clear."

Falls City Boy Dies Under Wagon

Falls City (UPI) — David Jones, 7, was killed when he was run over by a wagon load of corn pulled by a tractor driven by his father, Arthur Lee Jones.

Authorities said the boy was apparently attempting to climb on the wagon when he slipped and fell under its wheels.

The boy is survived by his parents and 4 brothers and sisters.

MRS. ROOSEVELT HOLDING HER OWN

New York (AP) — Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who has been ill for a month, was reported "holding her own" Friday by her personal secretary.

The 78-year-old former First Lady is confined to bed in her Manhattan apartment and is receiving nursing care and daily visits by her doctor.

Mrs. Roosevelt entered a hospital Sept. 26 for what was then described as a routine checkup. Later, it was reported that she had a lung infection and a form of anemia. She left the hospital in an ambulance Oct. 18.

Peace Prayers Set For Sunday

Washington (UPI) — Prayers for peace will be offered Sunday in Protestant and Catholic churches throughout America.

Calls to prayer in the Cuban crisis have been issued by the National Council of Churches, the National Catholic Welfare Conference, the United Presbyterian Church, and State Councils of Churches in many parts of the country.

The National Council of Churches, representing 31 major Protestant and Orthodox denominations with 40 million members, urged Americans to pray particularly for President Kennedy and all who share his "awesome responsibilities" for decisions affecting world peace.

The National Catholic Welfare Conference, in a statement signed by the 5 U.S. cardinals and other bishops who are members of its administrative board, asked all Catholic parishes in the nation to observe this Sunday as a day of prayer for President Kennedy and other government leaders.

A check with the Lincoln Diocese Friday revealed that the Catholic churches in this area will participate with special services throughout the day.

According to the Lincoln Council of Churches, however, local Protestant groups will take part in the prayers for peace action only on an individual basis. Plans for Reformation Sunday, sponsored this Sunday by the Council, will not be altered.

West's Vehicles Hampered By East German Guards

Berlin (AP) — East German frontier guards subjected Berlin-bound truck traffic to unusual inspection Friday.

West Berlin police said drivers arriving here had been held up for from 4 to 5 hours on the western end of the highway link and compelled to unload cargoes for minute scrutiny.

This has not happened to trucks plying to Berlin for more than a year.

The tighter controls were imposed from about 6 a.m. until shortly before noon. After that, traffic was permitted through without harassment.

If there was a deliberate harassment involved, it was about the only one the East German communists have tried in the current Cuban tension.

Hylton Is Arraigned For False Reports

York (UPI) — Harry I. Hylton, vice president of the Gresham State Bank, was bound over to District Court Friday morning after arraignment on two counts of making false reports to bank examiners.

Hylton was released after

Wahoo Lady Gets Award For Service

Chicago (AP) — A distinguished service award was presented Friday to Mrs. Elizabeth Wild of Wahoo, Saunders County home extension agent.

She was honored at the 29th annual meeting of the National Home demonstration Agents Association.

Each state selects the agent to be recognized at the conference.

Mrs. Wild, her husband and 11-year-old son live on a 300-acre farm north of Wahoo. A graduate of the University of Nebraska, she has been a home agent in Saunders County for 11 years.

She was employed by the Farmers Home Administration in McCook and taught vocational homemaking in Harvard, Neb., prior to her work in extension.

Atomic Plant Adopts New Security Ways

Columbus (AP) — New security measures have been put into effect and there has been a general tightening up of security at the Sheldon Station nuclear power plant at Hallam, Neb., Consumers Public Power District reported Friday.

New identification badges have been issued to all employees of Consumers, Atomic International and the Atomic Energy Commission involved in the project, Consumers said.

The plant gates will be locked after working hours and guards will patrol the perimeter of the fence at night, the announcement said. There was already adequate floodlighting at the installation.

Hereafter only two persons will be authorized to issue visitor passes, the Consumers plant superintendent and his assistant.

Morrison 'Didn't Tell Truth' Says State GOP Head

Ogallala—Republican State Chairman Robert Denney said that Gov. Frank Morrison "did not speak the truth" in his recent statements about GOP gubernatorial nominee Fred Seaton and his meeting with the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education.

"If our governor tells deliberate falsehoods about his opponent, is he the kind of man to be trusted with the responsibility of administering the highest office in the State of Nebraska?" Denney asked.

The chairman told a GOP fund-raising dinner that "the time has arrived when Nebraska must fish or cut bait on tourism."

Attendance figures at Beatrice and Scotts Bluff national monuments during Seaton's administration as secretary of interior "prove that he knows how to attract tourists," Denney declared.

Jail Escape Help Brings Sentence

Omaha (AP) — Frank Bonds, 31, who pleaded guilty in Federal Court to aiding in the escape of accused bank robber Charles William Evans, was sentenced Friday to 6 months in jail.

Chief District Judge Richard E. Robinson ruled that Bonds shall be credited with the 3 months he has already served in the Douglas County Jail while awaiting his appearance in Federal Court.

Bonds permitted Evans to impersonate him and walk out of jail at the conclusion of Bonds' 10-day sentence for vagrancy. Evans was recaptured and awaits trial for complicity in the robbery of the Enders State Bank.

DISSENTER

Norfolk (UPI) — Even teachers can dream. District 3 members of the State Education Association voted at their convention in chilly Norfolk to return to the same city next year.

But there was one vote for Hawaii.

he posted $5,000 bond. He waived preliminary hearing. York County Atty. Ray L. Svehla said no date had been set for Hylton's District Court appearance.

The charges stem from the disclosure of shortages totaling $468,000 in the bank's funds over the past 31 years. Hylton has signed a statement admitting involvement with the late Arthur Walford in the shortages.

Svehla said there is a 3-year statute of limitations in such cases, and the two counts with which Hylton is charged refer to statements to bank examiners in 1960 and 1961. Each count carries a possible sentence of from one to 10 years in the state penitentiary.

Walford, who was cashier at the bank, killed himself with a shotgun blast in the heart Monday when a bank examiner appeared for a routine, but off-schedule check. Hylton maintained that neither he nor Walford ever used any of the missing funds for personal use.

His statement also claimed $100,000 of the missing money was connected with the 1931 merger of the state bank with the Gresham National Bank. He said $50,000 was missing from the national bank's funds at the time of the merger and another $50,000 from the state bank's funds was used to pay off that loss. The remaining money was missing because insufficient fund checks were accepted from farmers, mostly farmers.

Svehla said the investigation of the books thus far by the State Banking Department appeared to support Hylton's story of how the shortages occurred. He said there was no evidence to indicate either bank officer used the money for personal purposes.

CPPD Okays Contracts

Columbus—Consumers Public Power District's board of directors Friday approved 3 contract bids for transformers and transformer banks.

This equipment will allow CPPD to improve its service to several Nebraska communities.

Contracts were let for a total of $62,292.

Pennsylvania Transformer Division of McGraw-Edison Co. of Cannonsburg, Pa., was awarded the contract in the amount of $15,332 for one 5,000-KVA 3-phase transformer and all accessories. This transformer will be used at the southeast Lincoln substation for improved service to the College View area.

The board approved a $11,410 contract submitted by the Syntro Des Moines Sales Co. of Omaha for two 100-kilo-watt DC rectifier units complete with DC breaker compartment. It will replace an old existing DC rectifier that converts alternating current (AC) to direct current (DC) for several passenger elevators in the Lincoln business district.

The third contract was awarded to General Electric Co. of Omaha in the amount of $35,550. It calls for 3 transformer banks of three 833-KVA transformers each. They will be used to improve service at York, O'Neill and Rushville.

The board also signed its part of an agreement for the joint use of a 34,500-volt transmission line with the City of Lincoln.

A part of the line owned by the city and Consumers will be used as a high voltage common grid by both parties.

This joint agreement will also require the approval of the Lincoln City Council.

2-Year Sentence Given Lincolnite In Traffic Death

Omaha (UPI) — Marshall J. Neuman, 23-year-old Lincolnite accused in the traffic death April 7 of an Omaha school teacher, was sentenced Friday to two years imprisonment for motor vehicle homicide.

Neuman, 23, pleaded no contest before District Judge Robert L. Smith.

Neuman was driving at 72nd and Pacific streets here when his car collided with one driven by the victim, Anna Louise McConnell, 34, Omaha.

Neuman, accused of running through a red light, traveled in his auto as the car struck another car and then a parked car.

Misko Asks Stockholders To Meeting

State Banking Director Ralph Misko plans to meet Wednesday evening at Gresham with the 10 living stockholders of the Gresham State Bank to see if they will consider getting funds together to restore the bank's losses of $468,000.

Three and possibly 4 other persons have indicated to Misko their interest in investing new capital in the bank under new management which could prevent its going into receivership.

Letters were sent to these stockholders from the Banking Department Friday: David Yung of Gresham; Harry Hylton; H. K. Diers and William H. Diers of Gresham; William H. Hunter of Omaha; L. W. Helmer of Thayer; Bertha Matzner of Gresham; Robert Nelson of York; Rudolph Neujar of Ulysses; and Walter Schmitt of Gresham.

State bank examiners are still at work on the Gresham State Bank's books and it will probably be another two weeks before their examination is completed, Misko said.

Sunday Closing Constitutionality To Supreme Court

Omaha (AP) — The ruling of District Judge Donald Brodkey that the Omaha Sunday closing ordinance is constitutional will be appealed to the State Supreme Court.

Notice of appeal was filed after Judge Brodkey overruled a motion of two intervenors for a new trial in the suit brought by eight druggists. The intervenors are Don Hansen who operates Don's Mobil Service and Dorothy I. Varlane of Varly Drugs.

The ordinance was passed November of 1961. There are six other suits pending in addition to the one Judge Brodkey ruled on and the city is still prevented from enforcing the ordinance under a court order in one of the 6 cases.

Blair Councilmen Not Informed On U.N. Proclamation

Blair (AP) — Members of the Blair City Council claim they were not "considered or informed" by Mayor Edward Eggleton when he issued a proclamation calling for the United States to quit the United Nations.

The 8 council members signed a statement to that effect. The mayor had said in his proclamation that the U.N. "has become the principal forum for disseminating Soviet propaganda contrary to the best interests of the United States and the free world."

2 Men Hold Up Hastings Motel

Hastings (UPI) — Two armed men held up the Park Motel on U.S. 6-281 on the south edge of town Friday and fled west, possibly in a white compact car.

Owner-manager Don Boyle said the men took $100 and left at 6:43 a.m., warning him not to call police for 15 minutes.

Boyle said he heard the car go west from the motel. It could have continued west on U.S. 6 or turned south a short distance away on U.S. 281.

DIRECTOR:

'Had Never Reviewed Records'

Gresham — Though a director of the Gresham State Bank for 35 years, State Sen. H. K. Diers said Friday he never reviewed the books.

"I was a director in name only," said Diers.

The 5-term state senator said the title of director came with inherited stock.

Diers said he believed the bank trouble was caused by "poor business" and "big hearts."

"I am sure neither Mr. (Arthur) Walford nor Mr. (Harry) Hylton profited one penny," Diers said.

Walford, a cashier, killed himself at the sight of a bank examiner. Hylton, vice president of the bank, has signed a confession involving himself and Walford in shortages of about $468,000.

The Associated Press reported that in Omaha, the son-in-law of David Yung, bank president, said Yung has pledged more than $100,000 to help reduce the shortages.

The statement came from the Rev. William H. Hunter of Omaha, a bank director for some 15 years.

"I think we'll be able to get enough together to protect depositors," Hunter said.

Solons Could Require FDIC Protection

Gerald Vitamvas, deputy Nebraska attorney general, said Friday he believes the legislature would have authority to require 24 non-insured state banks to become members of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC).

The possibility of such legislation being proposed was raised in the wake of the recent Gresham State Bank case.

Of 301 state-chartered banks in Nebraska, only 24 are not FDIC members. Under the FDIC program, each depositor has his losses insured up to $10,000.

The Gresham bank was not a member of the FDIC.

Vitamvas said he believes a determination of public safety would give the unicameral authority to require the 24 banks to become FDIC members in order to keep their charters.

Ralph Misko, state banking director, said he could not conceive of anyone starting a new bank now or in recent years without obtaining the protection offered by FDIC.

Misko added that the lack of insurance at the 24 banks casts no reflection on their financial soundness. He noted all are long-established and are apparently well-managed.

The 24 banks are: Farmers State Bank, Blue Springs; Branning State Bank, Citizens State Bank, Carlisle; Cedar Rapids State Bank; Commercial State Bank, Clay Center; State Bank of Dannebrog; Jennings State Bank, Davenport; Nebraska Security Bank, Deshler; Security State Bank, Edgar; Farmers State Bank, Fairmont; Geneva State Bank; American State Bank, Homer; Hubbell State Bank; Leshara State Bank; Bank of Lindsay; Blue River Bank, McCool Junction; Security State Bank, Madrid; Scroggin & Co., Oak; Bank of Panama; Pickrell State Bank; Farmers Bank, Prairie Home; Shickley State Bank; First Security Bank, Sutherland; and Bank of Yutan.

The state banking director is authorized to require all new state banks to become FDIC members.

Misko said he has not made such a requirement but that it has not been necessary for him to do so.

The cost of FDIC insurance is about one-twelfth of one per cent of the amount of the deposits. The cost is paid by the bank.

Morrison Speaker For Scout Event

Kearney — Gov. Frank B. Morrison will be principal speaker at a Business-Explorer Day here Nov. 10 under the sponsorship of the Overland Trails Council of the Boy Scouts.

Explorer Scouts from the 19-county area will each be assigned to a Kearney businessman for the day, to allow the youths to become acquainted with different business operations.

American Resolve Strong

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

It is not particularly surprising but it is heartening to witness the response of the American people and the people of many other nations to the U.S. blockade of Cuba. Next to impossible to find is the American citizen who disagrees with the action taken by President Kennedy to stop the communist importation of missiles into Cuba. It is hoped that Premier Khrushchev's intelligence system is working on this subject and fully appraises the Kremlin boss of the firmness of the U.S. position.

Support has come from every American ally, including the Latin American nations which have wavered in many other showdowns with the Red antagonists. The complete unanimity of the support is also evidence that the administration has not acted a bit too soon. It is a generally agreed upon theory that the public is often ahead of the executive and legislative branches in Washington and they have demonstrated in the current crisis that they certainly are not lagging in the case of Cuba. If anything, this support shows that the American people might well have been inclined to move long before the President did.

This cannot be considered an actual indictment, of course, since the office of the presidency is a unique one and no single individual can be fully aware of the complexity of such a situation as was faced by Kennedy in making the Cuban decision. It is one thing to sit on the sidelines and philosophize on what we would do but quite another to make the final decision.

There is evidence that the Cuban situation could not turn out to be a substantial victory for the West in its cold war with the communist world. This is nothing but a faint glimmer and speculation at this point, of course, but the measure has caught the Kremlin napping and the Russian response has been exceptionally conciliatory.

There is no denying that the situation is still a most explosive one and it is doubtful that Russia intends to take such a defeat without retaliation but victory in one battle is never declined out of fear of what might happen next. Whatever answer the Russians finally give must be met with the same resolute determination as has been displayed at this time. This is the first time the Russians have actually been on the defensive since the Korean War. But the public should also be cautioned that this Cuban battle is still far from won. The signs now are favorable but that could change in a matter of hours or even minutes. One open defiance of the blockade could spell disaster as could a number of other things.

But initial success has caused the nation and its leaders to begin to consider the next move. Assuming the blockade does work, the next question is what to do about the missile installations already in Cuba. This could be an even more complicated thing than the blockade. If the blockade works, one explanation for it might be that Russia already has enough missile capability on the Caribbean island to satisfy her. If this is the case, the U.S. has won a moral victory if the blockade succeeds but not a very real one. At that time the country must face the question of missile installations already operational in Cuba and the prospect is a bleak one.

It would seem that the United States has, in effect, virtually committed itself to the eventual elimination of these missile installations off the shores of Florida. The country could not stop short of such elimination without a serious risk of losing the respect and momentum generated with the blockade. And it is this more direct showdown, perhaps, that Russia is now waiting for.

The problem is how to go about eliminating these missile bases. This could hardly be done short of some military action against the Castro island. The President will, as he has said, pursue all diplomatic ways of solving the problem but Russia is not likely to give up the Cuban sites under any terms to which we would agree.

There are a number of things that the U.S. might try but many of them offer little hope of success. An uprising inside Cuba could be fostered but Castro has enough military strength to withstand such an uprising at this time. We might foster another unofficial invasion, too, but we would not get away without full-scale U.S. participation if we expected any success. We could openly invade Cuba or could simply bomb her missile installations but, again, all these things are direct military actions. Much of what the future holds will depend upon our intelligence reports from Cuba and the actions of Russia.

We appear to be embarked, however, upon a road from which we dare not turn back. While the initial results of this action are pleasing to us, the situation is still fraught with danger and there are large hurdles to clear before we can again settle into the normal pattern of the cold war. The next few weeks and months promise to be as historic and vital to the West as perhaps the entire past decade. More than once will we need the courage and strength of character that has been displayed to date by the American people and their allies.

"I May Still Have To Rely On Reckless Inaction"

DREW PEARSON

Khrushchev Not Total Red Boss

WASHINGTON — Perhaps the most important part of the White House briefing given to congressional leaders just before the President's momentous Cuban quarantine announcement had to do with Russian reaction.

John A. McCone, head of Central Intelligence, gave senators and congressmen a diagnosis of what was probably going on inside the Kremlin.

The chief point McCone made was that the missile build-up in Cuba was a sign that the Central Committee of the communist party was dominated by the Red Army.

McCone further predicted that as a result of the U.S. blockading of Soviet arms to Cuba, a power struggle would take place inside the Kremlin not unlike that which occurred during the Hungarian crisis in 1956 when the liberal Russian factions battled it out with a diehard faction as to whether Moscow should send troops into Hungary. One problem that then worried the Kremlin was whether the United States would intervene in Hungary to stop Russian intervention.

The diehard faction won; Red Army troops were sent into Hungary. McCone told the senators and congressmen that probably a similar debate was going on inside the Kremlin today.

My own observations, a result of interviewing President Tito of Yugoslavia last summer and talking to Premier Khrushchev earlier, coincide with those of CIA Chief McCone.

The western world is inclined to think of Khrushchev as the uncontrolled boss of the Kremlin, and for that matter of the communist world. He is not. He has three important groups influencing his policies against the United States and one important group for.

The three anti-groups are: 1. The Red Army—Khrushchev himself told me that the military leaders had been pressuring him during the Berlin crisis to resume nuclear testing as a result of new U.S. tactical weapons. Approximately one week later he did so.

2. The old Stalinists — Their leadership was wiped out with the demotion of ex-Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov one year ago, but it's reported they still have influence inside the Kremlin. How much influence is difficult to estimate.

3. The Red Chinese—While they are at odds with Khrushchev right now, the Cuban crisis could pull them back together. Regardless of this possibility, the Chinese influence is important in the communist world, and their thesis is that war with the capitalist world is inevitable.

Cuban Crisis Is An Aid To Brown

SACRAMENTO — Democrats are being deprived of their president, vice-president, cabinet and many lesser known but acute helpers just two weeks before a national election in what still must be called peacetime. This is some kind of new record. A few are ready to say whether it helps or hurts.

Some candidates are better off than others, and one of the lucky ones is Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, whose campaign against Richard Nixon takes top billing this year. Brown is a member of the Civil Defense Committee of the Governors' Conference which will meet with President Kennedy this week end.

He has conferred with California defense officials and will then enter the national spotlight centered upon the White House. The harvest of headlines and pictures in connection with the important and critical developments of the moment will speak for themselves.

The governor has also decided to throttle down his state campaigning even beyond the engagements necessarily cancelled for the Washington journey. He will substitute for United Nations Ambassador Adlai Stevenson at a U.N. celebration in Los Angeles and participate in some statewide fireworks toward the finish, but generally speaking, he will take the high road from here on in.

As Nixon rather wistfully pointed out, he has no reason for going to Washington, as he has no official position. His homestretch schedule so far remains the same.

It will hardly save his wounds that Sen. Thomas

Kuchel got a break similar to Brown's when Kuchel was summoned, as Republican whip, to the advance presidential conference with congressional leaders. The Nixon-Kuchel campaigns are totally dissociated, as often happens in the state.

Even if they were not, the two men are uncongenial. Nor did Kuchel hide his displeasure when Nixon took back into his councils Murray Chotiner, who had managed a right-wing campaign to deprive Kuchel of renomination.

Unless the Democrats should turn up with a landslide, which nobody expects, Kuchel is believed to be a sure winner over State Sen. Richard Richards, a liberal Democrat. Kuchel, an Earl Warren protege, has a voting record more liberal than that of Nixon or William F. Knowland when they were senators.

No such certainty appears with respect to the governorship. For many weeks observers thought it would be close and said either Nixon or Brown could throw it away with an ill-advised action or remark of which both were deemed capable. That has not happened so far, and the end is near. This being California, with its various and volatile population, its many cross-currents and diverse interests, prophets are always in short supply. Few foresaw the Democratic sweep of 1958.

Democrats are now concentrating on getting out the vote, always a problem for them. They have a better organization for this purpose than usual, which is concentrating in vast Los Angeles county.

ON TARGET

By DON WALTON
Four months ago this week, we were privileged to spend 6 days with the men of the U.S. Atlantic Fleet.

Today many of those guys with whom we talked last June are out on the high seas forming the new front line of this broiling, shifting cold war.

They are the barrier to aggression in our hemisphere.

Some of them may die out there before this tragic new chapter of communist adventure is finally written into the pages of history.

We remember vividly their skill and spirit, their intense pride, their youth, their dedication and determination.

We recall asking one highly-placed lieutenant commander — who, incidentally, has since been "promoted" to an admiral (Nebraska-Navy type) — if our fleet was then prepared and able to effectively blockade Cuba if necessary.

His answer was hard to forget: "No sweat."

Our brief look at the Navy's capabilities was impressive beyond measure.

Aboard a sleek nuclear submarine on maneuvers, we marveled at the speed with which it could be transformed from a visible surface vessel into a suddenly sinister, black, silent killer prowling 400 feet below the surface of the sea.

We were amazed to see how quickly a torpedo could be lifted from its nest and slapped into one of the 6

glistening tubes — and fired. We were pleased by the no-excuses pride of the submariners themselves and the professional skill with which they carry out their duties under less-than-normal circumstances.

Then, there was a day and a half on a giant, awesome attack aircraft carrier where we felt our jaw drop as Cmdr. "Mick" Rooney of Fighter Squadron 103 swooped in for his 539th carrier landing.

We shivered in the chilly night, witnessing harrowing landings aboard the carrier as it bobbed in the inky black of the Atlantic.

We watched flight deck crew members in bright-hued jackets dash in and about the moving aircraft, laboring to keep the frantically-paced launch and recovery operations on schedule.

Below decks, we saw fuzzy-cheeked sailors going about their less glamorous — but just as important — tasks. And we remember well watching 2,000 troops in full battle dress storm a Virginia beach south of Norfolk in a full-scale, ear-shattering, eye-popping amphibious exercise employing jet fighters, Frogmen, naval gunfire, helicopter landings, parachute drops, flame-throwers, a simulated nuclear strike and all the rest.

If our June experience taught us anything, it was that the Navy is ready for anything out there today in the Atlantic.

Our powerful warships and carrier aircraft are the best in the world. And the guys who man them are proud, determined men — trained for any eventuality, skilled in their assigned tasks, dedicated to their duty.

As an aftermath of our trip to Norfolk, we have been receiving daily news releases from the Navy on its Caribbean exercises.

The last one arrived Monday. It was stamped: "Hold for release until October 23." That was Tuesday, the day after the President ordered the quarantine on offensive arms.

"The Marines have landed," the release began. "Six thousand U.S. Marines swarmed over coral sand beaches on the Caribbean island of Vieques today..."

That landing, of course, never took place. But if another must, we are obviously ready. The 20,000 sailors and Marines of that 40-ship task force are still out there, and plenty of additional help has since joined the scene.

We read yesterday that Vice Admiral Alfred Ward is in command of the blockade task force — and our memory swept back again to June when we met this soft-spoken Alabama native, graduate of Annapolis, decorated for valor in World War II Pacific operations.

As commander of the Atlantic Fleet Amphibious Force, Ward impressed on visiting newsmen the importance of building our capability to wage conventional war. His words are prophetic today in the light of Cuban developments.

The Amphibious Force has a proud motto: "Vanguard in peace... spearhead in war."

It is ready this dangerous day to change its mission from the former to the latter, if necessary.

Votes Will Tell

Chadron, Neb.

Your editorial of October 22 in which you came out for Fred Seaton for governor certainly was weaker than water. We almost have a feeling that your heart and mind were some place else when you wrote what you did.

When you say Mr. Seaton's record is one of achievement, you must have some facts to support your contention. You certainly gave none! What are his achievements? Being an appointed official in Eisenhower's administration where his chief duties were to parrot Ike's line is no major sign of achievement. What achievement has he shown in the present campaign? Has he laid any issues on the line? Has he proved any shortcomings of the incumbent governor?

If Mr. Seaton does win, it will be because he was in the Eisenhower administration, coupled with the further fact that Nebraska is normally 70 per cent Republican and 30 per cent Democratic. The Democrats elect a governor in Nebraska only when the Republicans get so disgusted with themselves that they get a breath of fresh air by voting Democratic.

The incumbent has done about as good a job as the antiquated constitution of the state would permit him to do. His job may not have pleased The Star, which is no great mark against him, but he has pleased many others, both Republican and Democratic. Count him out only after the votes have put him out!

ERIC G. DE FLON, M.D.

Lincoln, Neb.

In regard to the letter from Maxine Gottner, does she want to support all church schools — Methodist, Presbyterian and Lutheran? Yet she asks that Catholic schools be so supported.

The Catholic church is a rich church, counting its income in billions of dollars and its property in tens of billions. The members in this country send more money to the Vatican for support of the church around the world than do Catholics of any other country.

"The public schools are open to all" is not just a "pious mouthing," as she insists. It is the truth.

People pay taxes on liquor and tobacco but they have their choice as to whether they use them or not. But taxing one faith to support another is "Taxation without representation." In fairness to all, our government supplies schools for all.

A Disappointment

Hastings, Neb.

Never in the years I have been a reader of The Star — and they have been many — have I been so bitterly disappointed in an editorial as I was in the one entitled "Seaton Could Be Great."

I have followed the campaign of Mr. Seaton carefully from the beginning and I have failed to note one single solitary utterance that would indicate that he would be a better governor than Frank Morrison. All he has done is condemn the governor as being closely aligned with the administration in Washington and in my book, that is not too serious an indictment. If, as you state in your editorial, Mr. Seaton is more of a planner than Governor Morrison, the plan is to use the governorship as a stepping-stone to higher office.

Traveler Increase

Lincoln, Neb.

Governor Morrison's record of accomplishment entitles him to re-election so that he may finish many of the worthy programs and projects which he has initiated. His opponent wields a needle very freely, jabbing our governor about a series of relatively inconsequential matters, as he apparently has no solid program of his own to advance.

Seaton also criticizes the governor because highway deaths are on the increase in Nebraska. The Republican candidate doesn't take into consideration that there has been a heavy increase in travel in Nebraska from April to October due to the thousands of persons who crossed our state en route to the World's Fair and returning home from there. The Nebraska motel industry knows full well the increase in travelers due to this one factor.

Governor Morrison and the State Safety Patrol have demonstrated that they have a number of effective programs to help reduce the carnage on the highways. Friends returning from Seaton report that from the Nebraska border to North Platte, they met 13 state highway patrolmen, more than twice as many as they saw in all other states on their entire trip. Since most of our accidents on the highway are caused by a lack of personal responsibility, it seems ridiculous for Seaton to claim that our governor is not doing his job well just because the campaign for highway safety is not always entirely successful.

Having lived in other states, I can appreciate Governor Morrison's achievements along this line as well as many others. Surely he is entitled to another term in office.

Off THE RECORD

By Ed. Reed

So Soon Forgotten

In the early years of the Eisenhower administration Sherman Adams was the toast of the country, the tireless, dutiful and skilled right arm of the President. Later, when a flaw of human weakness destroyed the illusion he was still one of the most talked of men.

A little more than a decade passed. Mr. Adams lately accepted the task of lecturing on political science at Wooster College in Ohio. On the occasion of his arrival on the campus a reporter undertook an inquiry among the students. He wished to know what they knew about him.

The outcome was a little staggering. One young student thought Adams had once been Secretary of Labor. Another recalled having heard the name. Still another was certain that Adams had been fired from government for having radical views. Another recalled that his parents had been incensed because Adams "had lavished expensive gifts on the President." Most of the students were about 10 years old in 1952 when Adams became the presidential assistant. Few were more than 15 when he departed from government.

It is a sobering thought. The acts for good or ill of a prominent man are extremely perishable. Each new wave of young people wash away the memorable events which preceded them and each generation tends to live with his own heroes and villains. The moral seems to be that if a man wishes to be long remembered his greatest hope is not so much in his own actions, but in his reliance on the historians and the monument makers. But there is a comforting side of it, too. An eminent man can count on his defeats and humiliations vanishing as rapidly as his demonstrated virtues. He can never be an outcast for long.

Moment Of Satisfaction

It was an occasion for national satisfaction when the 1962 Nobel prize for literature went to John Steinbeck.

It was the second time around for Steinbeck. He was the 1940 Nobel winner. That honor came through his production of The Grapes of Wrath, a story that dealt with the migration of displaced share croppers who sought but did not find a better deal in California. Steinbeck has been turning out top rate literature for 30 years to the enrichment of his multitude of readers.

Some of the satisfaction to be derived from his continued pacemaking comes from his genius for perceiving social values against a background of social misfortune or injustice. If a writer can qualify as the public conscience Steinbeck has a greater claim to that than any other American writer of his generation. He can portray without bitterness. He can be an excellent writer and still prevail as a moralist. Moreover, his treatment of characters and subject matter shows close communication with the feelings of the average American reader. Dickens indicted England for its callous attitude toward the unfortunate. Steinbeck arouses the family instinct in his readers, no less ready to correct wrongs, but entering into it as in behalf of a distressed brother.

The other source of satisfaction is more subtle. In recent years the United States has produced seven Nobel prize winners. This means that the country has matured and is producing its own literature with force and excellence. We have outgrown a bottle fed culture. We are now providing nourishment for the world. We owe a great deal to our giants of the arts, and Steinbeck is certainly one of them.

Editorial Of The Day

The Paper Curtain

From The St. Louis Post-Dispatch

One of the more unfortunate legacies of the recent Congress is a restoration of what has been called the "paper curtain" — a mail censorship provision to "protect" the American people from foreign Communist propaganda.

This provision is part of the new postal rate and pay legislation. It provides that mail, other than first class mail, shall be detained by the Post Office if the Secretary of the Treasury determines it to be Communist political propaganda. However, mail directed to government agencies, public libraries, colleges and professional institutions for advanced study is exempted. Also, addressees must be notified that their mail is being held, and may ask that it be forwarded to them.

As passed by the House, the bill would have given the censorship job to the Justice and not Treasury Department, but the Justice Department opposed the whole idea. In fact, in March 1961 the Post Office, Justice, Treasury and State Departments all recommended against similar mail censorship under administrative order, and President Kennedy abolished it.

Such censorship is an insult to the intelligence of the American people, as the President indicated. It represents unwarranted political interference with the rights of free communication, and it suggests that Americans can retain these rights only by asking the Government to deliver mail that it would normally deliver without question. And it invites foreign reprisals against our mail, again as the President suggested.

Parents Urged To Hang On To Their Nest Egg

By ROBERT PETERSON
Q. "My wife and I are retired and blessed with three fine children. They have families of their own and don't have it easy. As I've got a good pension we don't really need our nest egg of $15,000 in the bank and we're thinking of dividing it among our children. Is this a good idea?"
A. No—hang on to that nest egg. Not only is it important for your sense of independence and peace of mind, but you may desperately need it to cover emergencies which may arise in coming years. Give the children your affection and moral support. And give them occasional monetary tokens. But don't impoverish yourself. They must learn to stand on their own feet.
Q. "I'm 42 and need a grandmother badly. My drinking husband and I are getting a divorce and I must work to care for my three small children. Since my hours are sometimes late a teenager is out of the question and I can't afford a regular nurse or maid. There must be an older woman somewhere who would like a home and small salary in return for watching my babes when I'm working. Can you help?"

A. Every community needs a registry designed to get older people who want homes together with young people who can use their service. Three things you can do are (1) put an ad in your local paper, (2) talk with local ministers about elder members of their flock who may be interested, and (3) notify golden age clubs that you'd like to adopt a grandmother.

Q. "I'm single, 52, and love the 4-room apartment I leased last year in a new building. But I just can't afford the $130 monthly rent, which is nearly half my pay as a sales clerk. Should I take in a roommate or keep my privacy by moving to a smaller place?"
A. Unless you know someone who would be just right, I'd vote for the latter. As most people get along in years they value their privacy. Many single people have written me that they'd rather live alone in a furnished room than share a spacious apartment with a roommate.
Q. "I recently asked a girl of Spanish descent what she wanted to do most upon graduating from high school. Her answer was, 'Go to work so I can give money to my parents.' This struck me as one of the noblest remarks I've heard to date from the younger generation. Wouldn't it be fine if all children thought along these lines?"

A. It's important that children feel an obligation to their parents and a desire to help support them. But young people must also be concerned with personal needs, and this means saving money to buy homes for themselves, educate their children, and accumulate funds for their own retirement.
Q. "I've finally hit 65 and live in constant fear of getting some dread disease and becoming another one of the ailing oldsters we read about."

A. Stop worrying. Most elders skip through the latter years without serious illness. In fact, Dr. E. V. Askey of the American Medical Association recently quoted a Chicago survey of people over 65 in which it was found that less than 10% had need of regular medical attention.

Anti-U.S. Riots Hit In Bolivia

La Paz, Bolivia (UPI) — Violent rioting erupted Friday night when 3,000 anti-American Bolivian labor union members staged a demonstration of support for Cuban Premier Fidel Castro close to the U.S. Embassy.

Police said at least two persons were killed and 18 wounded.

Numerous clashes between the demonstrators and anti-communist groups occurred throughout the city. Police battled both groups.

The pro-Castro groups discharged fire arms in the air as they marched and burned an American flag as they sang the Bolivian national anthem in protest against the U.S. blockade of Cuba.

Street fighting continued sporadically within two blocks of the embassy which was under heavy Bolivian police guard.

Russian Tanker Receives Hero's Welcome In Havana

Havana (AP) — A Soviet tanker allowed through the U.S. Navy's Cuban blockade line received a hero's welcome in Havana Friday and was hailed as a victor over "Yankee imperialism."

A cheering crowd of about 400 heard Andres Soler of Cuba's longshoremen's union hail "the courage of the sailors who crashed the blockade."

Capt. Robert Romanoff of the tanker Vinnitsa was presented a Cuban flag and a portrait of Fidel Castro.

"They said that the boats would not pass and already one has passed and all will pass which are coming to our country," proclaimed labor leader Jesus Soto.

The secretary-general of the Port and Marine Workers Union, Soler, thanked the 48 crew members of the tanker Vinnitsa for their "backing in the fight against our common enemy."

"This rally is a manifestation of the sentiment of our people on learning that you had broken the supposed fence which had been imposed by Yankee imperialism."

Havana radio had mentioned briefly earlier that the Vinnitsa had been halted by U.S. naval vessels. The Navy let the ship through the tight U.S. cordon after determining its cargo consisted of petroleum. Havana broadcasts have said nothing about the apparent retreat of 12 Soviet vessels which had been en route to Cuban waters.

Army Moves Missiles Into Key West, Florida

Key West, Fla. (UPI) — The Army Friday moved anti-aircraft missiles into this island city, located just 90 miles north of Havana.

Authorities would not discuss any military operations or installations, however. The military was operating under the tightest security regulations imposed since World War II.

But a missile unit from Fort Meade, Md., set up positions on an island-like spit of land 3 miles east of the downtown area and trucks began hauling long cigar-shaped objects marked "explosives" behind a protective mound of earth about 30 feet high.

Rocket Clusters
By late afternoon, Army troops had set up clusters of rockets and target-finding radar in open view of the beach.

The land spit had been set aside before the Cuban crisis as the Monroe County Civil Defense Emergency Operation Center. It now is in Army hands, with armed guards posted around its perimeter and at the end of a slender causeway leading to it.

Almost overnight, the complexion of this traditional Navy town had changed from sailor white to soldier olive drab. The Army had landed nearly everywhere you looked.

Taken Over
Its fatigue-uniformed men had taken over the city's largest hotel, the only public beach, the baseball park and other former civilian grounds. Its jeeps, trucks and equipment moved endlessly on city streets and the highway leading toward the mainland.

The Army takeover served to increase the air of tension that began building up several days before President Kennedy announced the Cuban blockade. Residents and scores of newsmen observing the buildup speculated openly that something big appeared to be in the making.

The Army leased the 167-room Casa Marina Hotel Thursday and by dawn Friday it had been filled with troops with armed guards on all entrances.

Trucks crowded the courtyard, the swimming pool and beach were inaccessible to civilians.

A leasing officer said the army planned to set up quarters for 500 men in the hotel, once a watering spot for the rich.

Agricultural Division Seeks Leasing Space

The federal government this week expressed interest in leasing space in Lincoln for the Department of Agriculture, animal disease eradication division.

W. A. Holloway, regional administrator of the General Services Administration, said that invitations for bids have been issued for 3,150 square feet of usable office space ready for possession Jan. 1, 1963.

The $55,684,000 in federal highway funds which Nebraska has the capacity to obligate on its Interstate, primary, secondary and urban roads during fiscal 1963 represents all of its fiscal 1963 apportionment, and part of its fiscal 1964 apportionment.

The report in the Star Friday that the $55.6 million figure represented all of the state's apportioned funds through fiscal 1964 was in error.

Hoffa Never Got A Penny

... OF MONEY WIFE MADE

Nashville, Tenn. (AP)—Teamster President James R. Hoffa, accused of a $1 million conspiracy, never got a penny of the cash that went to his wife, the defense said Friday.

Z. T. Osborn Jr., a Nashville defense lawyer, told the U.S. District Court jury that the government case against the labor leader was based on suspicion, insinuation and innuendo.

The sharply conflicting prosecution version held that a big company set up Hoffa in an undercover trucking venture as a payoff for labor peace.

Quit Early

Both sides completed opening statements, with an early weekend adjournment because Hoffa had to catch a plane for Detroit. He planned to spend two days visiting vari-

Two-Car Mishap Injures 4 Persons

Four persons were slightly injured Friday night in a two-car rear end collision in the 300 block of No. 48th.

Treated and released from Bryan Memorial Hospital were: Pat Ash, 47, of 2705 So. 24th, and Shirley Farmer, 35, of 3545 South, both suffering whiplashes to the neck; Francis Ellen Ling, 17, of 1317 L, complaining of pain in the left arm, and Norma J. Bohlen, 21, of Hastings, with a cut lip.

Police said a car driven by David L. Bouse, 16, of Bennet, was stopped in the left hand lane, southbound on 48th, waiting to turn into the Arena Roller Skating Arena, 300 No. 48th, and the Ash car was behind Bouse when it and the Bohlen car were in collision.

According to officers, Shirley Farmer was a passenger in the Ash auto and Francis Ling was a passenger in the Bohlen car.

Gun Burglar Nets Sizeable Arsenal

A burglar at the Central Gun Co., 544 No. 48th, netted a sizeable arsenal of guns and ammunition, police said Friday.

Officers said the store was entered by breaking out a piece of heavy plate glass in the front door.

The burglar then proceeded to take two 20-gauge pump guns, two .22 caliber revolvers, two .22 caliber rifles, a .38 caliber derringer, a single action Colt, a black pistol belt and holster, and more than 20 cartons of .22 caliber long rifle cartridges.

The value of the stolen goods has not been determined yet, police said.

ous locals in the 1,500,000-member union. The trial will resume Monday.

Charles Shaffer, 30, a Department of Justice lawyer from Washington, drew frequent objections as he outlined "the overall picture of the proof which the government will present in the case."

When Shaffer mentioned incidents dating back to 1947, defense lawyer Daniel Maher of Washington moved for a mistrial on the ground that the Taft-Hartley Act didn't go into effect until 1948. He was overruled.

Concealed

The indictment says Hoffa violated the Taft-Hartley Act by using his union influence to obtain a concealed payoff.

"No man can serve two masters, he cannot accept from both sides," said Shaffer, a slender, handsome man with graying black hair.

Shaffer said the trucking firm—Test Fleet Corp.—was operated for Hoffa by Commercial Carriers, Inc., and the listing of stock under Mrs. Hoffa's maiden name was "nothing more than a clever effort to cover up the ownership."

After Strike

Commercial Carriers created Test Fleet for Hoffa 3 months after a strike against the company ended at Flint, Mich., Shaffer said.

Shaffer said the result was that Hoffa and the late Owen Brennan without putting up a nickel, wound up with a fleet of truck tractors, hauling lucrative loads.

Brennan, a Teamsters vice president, died last year. Two others mentioned in the case also have died. The defense said their testimony would have been a great aid in sinking the federal case.

Dedicated

Osborn said Hoffa never undertook to serve two masters, but was dedicated to the welfare of the members of his union. He said Test Fleet was not a concealed business venture.

"The prosecution seems to think there is something fishy, something phoney for a married woman to own property," he said. "But this is not unlawful, not unnatural, not phoney."

Every fact in the government case was brought out in a 1953 hearing by Rep. Clare E. Hoffman, R-Mich., and could scarcely be described as concealed, Osborn added.

Slips In Jibe

"The only change was that there is now a new attorney general, Robert Kennedy," he said, slipping the jibe in past Shaffer's objection, which the court upheld.

Hoffa has long contended that charges against him result from a personal feud with Kennedy.

Gov. Morrison Invites State Youth To Serve On Council

Governor Morrison has invited youths from all parts of the state to serve on the Nebraska Council of Youth for 1962-63.

The council is a committee of the Nebraska Committee for Children and Youth, a development of the Golden Anniversary White House Conference on children and youth held in Washington, D.C., in 1960.

One aim of the council is to provide an opportunity for youth to help determine the needs of Nebraska communities and an opportunity for youth to express their opinions regarding these needs.

The first meeting of the council will be held Sunday in Lincoln. At the gathering, reports from district chairmen will be made on accomplishments to date and future plans.

Members of the executive committee are: Susanne Plum, Chairman, Ann Miller, vice chairman, Gaynelle Groth, secretary, all of Lincoln; Galen Frenzen, Fullerton, treasurer; and Tom Kotouc, Humboldt, past council chairman.

Others appointed:

Guests And Parties Plus Travelers In Suburbia

COUNTRY CLUB TERRACE

The little ones in Country Club Terrace are arming themselves with masks and cries of "trick-or-treat," and the big folks are leaving the neighborhood!

Actually, it's not an alarming situation, it is just that time of the year for Halloween activities and football migrations to Colorado.

The Halloween activities in the neighborhood this weekend are centered around a party at the Lt. Hal Gilette home.

Lt. and Mrs. Gilette's children, Kenneth, Susan, and Richard, will entertain 12 of their neighborhood contemporaries at a party at their home this evening. The Gilette recreation room will be converted into a "spook's haven," and the children will spend the evening bobbing for apples, munching the traditional Halloween goodies, and having a "spooky good time."

This will be the second party this week for young Kenneth Gilette. Last Wednesday, Kenneth celebrated his sixth birthday with 15 school and neighborhood friends. The birthday group visited the Wayne West television show and then returned to the Gilette home where each received a bag of surprises in place of the traditional birthday cake and ice cream. Nobody's dinner was spoiled, and Mrs. Gilette had no ice cream spills or cake crumbs to mop up after the party.

Miss Debbie Kay Andelt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Andelt, celebrated her seventh birthday this week. Yesterday was the big day, and Debbie Kay and 17 guests celebrated by spending the afternoon at the Wayne West Show and then returning to the Andelt home for an informal supper.

Included among Debbie

Kay's guests, were her sister, Nancy, and a brother, Mark.

As for migration to Colorado, "everybody's going," and among them are Mr. and Mrs. Merle O. Brestel and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hannigan. The foursome left Lincoln yesterday, with plans to stay in Denver last night, and then go to Boulder for the game today. They will return with the rest of the migrating Ne-braskans tomorrow.

Saturday evening was a Mr. Drake is leaving Lin-farewell for Charles Drake. coln soon for California.

Another party in Country Club Terrace this weekend was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Seiboldt. The small dinner party on

Chatter in the Corridor

BY BARBARA TREBELHORN

Even though the school week was short, it was busy. Report cards for the first six weeks were issued Tuesday. Now that the new six weeks has begun, many Knights are working hard to get "that grade up" or keep it as good as it was.

The Homecoming game was played Wednesday against the Fairbury Jeffs. Southeast won 26 to 0. Candidates for Queen were presented at halftime.

The Homecoming dance was Thursday and you probably already know that Diana Focht and Tippy Dye, Jr. were crowned as Homecoming Queen and King. Last year's king and queen, Judi Heggan and Bruce Wright were on hand to crown the new royalty and present trophies to the attendants.

The theme for the dance was "After the Game." The decorations were black and gold and featured an 8-foot-tall football player made out of wood and crepe paper.

Parties to celebrate homecoming were very much in evidence this week, also. Gaynelle Groth and Linda Chatfield were hostesses at a pre-game dinner for senior girls. A cocktail party before the dance was held at the home of Karen Lind.

Two members of last year's football team, Bruce Wright and Don Gerhard, also were present to speak to the rally.

Dear Abby

Do Not Blame Yourself

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I work in a store and became friendly with a customer who used to confide in me. One day he told me he was in love with a beautiful, wonderful girl and was going to marry her. When he brought her into the store for me to meet, I was dumbfounded. She was beautiful, but far from wonderful. I had known this girl for years and she had a terrible past. Thinking she might have changed, I offered my best wishes and said nothing. He married her and she had not changed. My friend discovered it too late and he took his own life. I feel that I am responsible because had I told him the truth he might not have married her. I failed him, Abby, and my heart is heavy with guilt.

J. DEAR J: Perhaps he would have married her anyway. You did what you thought was right at the time. Do not blame yourself.

DEAR ABBY: Our son attends College Park High School. His girl friend attends Pleasant Hill. College Park plays Pleasant Hill for their homecoming game. Does our son sit on the girl's side or should she sit on his side?

CONFUSED DEAR CONFUSED: Your son sits with his classmates, and his date sits with him.

DEAR ABBY: I have a 13-year-old stepson whose table manners are revolting! His father yells at me if I correct him or criticize him in any way. The worst part of it is that his father doesn't even notice how dirty the boy's hands are. The boy goes a whole day without washing them. He plays with the dog and then comes right to the dinner table. Please advise.

MRS. X. DEAR MRS. X.: It shouldn't matter whether this boy is a stepson or of your own blood and bone. He should be taught cleanliness. Announce that everyone must come to the table with clean hands or he can eat alone. And stick to it . . . if you have to eat by yourself in the kitchen.

DEAR ABBY: I think our postal service is disgusting. My father has ordered several things through the mail and when they arrive they are either bent, broken or cracked. Several people in our neighborhood have the same complaint.

DISGUSTED DEAR DISGUSTED: Don't blame the postal system. Packages must be properly wrapped in order to be delivered in good condition.

Why Grow Old?

Trick-Treat Diet

Josephine Lowman

Obesity is no longer just a cosmetic problem. It is a number one health problem. Too many pounds are the friends of heart and vascular diseases, high blood pressure, diabetes, hardening of the arteries and other disabilities, especially those so prevalent from middle age on.

There is dependable evidence that it is important for us to remain at our ideal weight all through our lives. This does not mean "average" weight since most folks gain weight as they grow older.

As most of my readers know, I am offering my Trick and Treat Diet this week. It gives you a loss of about five pounds in seven days. Here are the menus

BREAKFAST One-half grapefruit, one teaspoon sugar One slice toast, very lightly buttered

Two slices crisp bacon Coffee, one teaspoon sugar DINNER

Consomme with parsley Celery and carrot sticks One-half medium broiler (one to one-half pound chicken or one good slice roasted chicken)

One medium baked potato seasoned with salt and parsley

One-half cup cole slaw Peaches, two halves, one tablespoon syrup

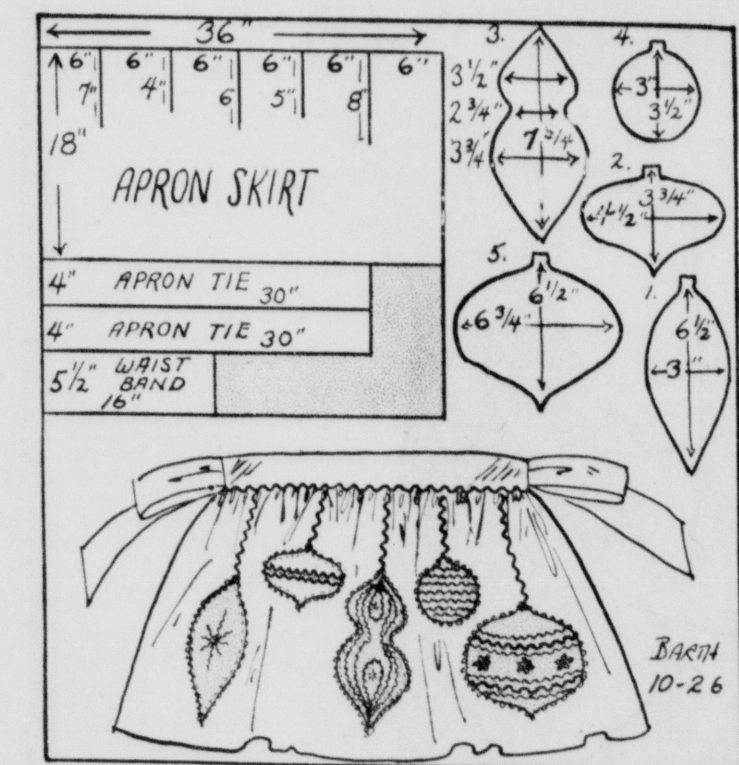

SUPPER Egg omelet (with one teaspoon butter) Eight ounces skim milk Three saltines

If you would like to have this complete diet in a convenient booklet, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it. Address: Josephine Lowman in care of the Lincoln Star, Lincoln, Nebraska.

It Seems To Me

Aprons Are Good Xmas Gifts

Patricia Scott

Extra special Christmas aprons are great fun to wear if you're giving a holiday party. This crisp white apron of polished cotton is decorated with bright Christmas tree ornaments of various colors. The apron is trimmed with delicate gold rickrack and colorful sequins and each "dangles" from a golden stem of rickrack.

You'll Need: 7/8 yard of white polished cotton, 36 inches wide; scraps of cotton satin in 5 colors; 3 yards of gold metallic regular rickrack; 4 yards of gold metallic baby rickrack; colored sequins.

To Cut: 1. Following the diagram, lay the fabric out on single thickness. Your piece is exactly 36 inches by 7/8 of a yard.

2. To mark stems of 5 ornaments, follow these measurements and the diagram. First stem: 6 inches from edge of fabric and 7 inches long. Second stem: 6 inches from first stem and 4 inches long. Third stem: 6 inches from second stem and 6 inches long. Fourth stem: 6 inches from third stem and 5 inches long. Fifth stem: 6 inches from fourth stem and 8 inches long.

3. Apron skirt is 36 x 18 inches; 2 apron ties are 30 x 4 inches each; waistband is 16 x 5 1/2 inches.

4. The shape of each ornament need not be exactly like the ones illustrated. But using the dimensions on the diagram will help you work out your own and to vary the size and shape for interest. My color suggestions for the ornaments are: No. 1, red; No. 2, turquoise; No. 3, green; No. 4, coral; No. 5, medium blue.

To Make: 1. Hem apron sides and ties with a narrow hem. Fold, press and stitch bottom hem 2 inches wide.

2. Stitch regular gold rickrack on stem markings according to pattern. Trim ornaments with baby rickrack as suggested in illustration, or as desired. Hand tack colored sequins on ornament between rows of rickrack or to form "buds." Use just enough sequins to give a subtle glitter affect. Stitch baby rickrack around outside edge of each ornament, outlining it. Press rickrack to wrong side of ornament, leaving one edge of rickrack points extending. Top-stitch ornaments in place, stitching close to edge.

3. Gather top of apron to fit waistband. Press under the 4 raw edges of waistband 1/4 inch. Fold waistband in half lengthwise. Slip band over gathered edge of apron and baste together. Slip ties in side openings of band and baste. Top stitch ties to band, and then stitch band to apron. Stitch regular rickrack over waistband stitching.

3♣	3♣	5♣	5♣
Pass	5♣	6♣

Opening lead — four of spades.

Maintaining control over trumps is vital in the play of many suit contracts. This hand required delicate treatment by the declarer to bring home his slam contract.

West led a spade and dummy took it with the ace. Declarer played a club and finessed the queen. West showing out. South realized, from the bidding, that he would be unable to ruff his diamonds successfully in dummy, so he led a heart and finessed the queen, hoping to establish that suit and thus take care of some of his diamond losers.

The finesse lost to the king and East returned the ten of diamonds. South took the ace, and, proceeding according to plan, played a heart to the ace and ruffed a heart. If he had ruffed a diamond first or chosen to finesse the club after winning with the ace of hearts, he would have been defeated.

The hearts have turned out to be divided 3-3. South now ruffed a diamond in dummy. At this point, dummy had two good hearts, two trumps, and the J-3 of spades, while East still had the K-9 of clubs and four spades.

South still had to take a club finesse to pick up East's K-9, but he couldn't afford it yet. Instead, he led one of dummy's hearts, which amounted, in effect to a trump finesse if East chose to ruff.

East was now faced with a Hobson's choice. If he trumped the heart, declarer would overruff, draw another round of trump, and then be able to ruff one diamond and discard his other diamond on the last heart.

If East didn't ruff the heart, South would discard a diamond and lead still another heart. Whether East ruffed at this point would again make no difference. East's king of clubs was bound to be trapped either on that trick or the next one.

So South made the slam as a result of his thoughtful play. By establishing the hearts he was able to finesse in trumps without leading them.

Fallout Shelter Marking In State To Begin At Capitol

The fallout shelter marking program for Nebraska will begin next Thursday at the State Capitol, the Army Corps of Engineers announced Friday.

The program was worked out with local Civil Defense authorities: James R. Wallace, deputy state director at Lincoln, and William Noyes of Omaha, Douglas County director, said the Engineers.

Noyes will determine next week the first structure to be marked in Omaha when the program begins there Friday, the engineers indicated.

In Lancaster County, mostly in Lincoln, the engineers conducted surveys of buildings providing adequate protection against radioactive fallout.

Spaces for about 66,000 people were identified for this area. Room for 170,000 was found in Douglas County.

The engineers said the figures do not represent available shelters, and warned that after a building has been rated for its protection factor, its owner must sign a license authorizing its use as a shelter.

Beginning in Lincoln with the Capitol, local Civil Defense authorities will stock marked public shelters with federally-provided food, water and emergency supplies.

The engineers explained that marking consists of placing metal yellow-and-black signs at each building entrance showing there is shelter available and its capacity.

Shelter signs plus arrows will indicate the direction of the shelter within the building, they added.

In the 5-state Omaha district of the Corps of Engineers, authority was given late in September to begin the marking program.

A pilot program to mark 20,000 spaces began early in October for the Denver area. Other marking crews have been at work in Wyoming and North Dakota.

Spaniards say the proper making of sherry requires the fresh juice of the crushed grapes to be taken from vineyard to winery within an hour. Fermentation begins a few hours later and lasts a week.

If you are SELF-EMPLOYED, we have Important News for you!

The Congress of the United States has recently enacted into Law the "Self-Employed Individuals Tax Retirement Act of 1962"—a long awaited measure that allows doctors, lawyers, farmers, owners of unincorporated businesses and other self-employed persons to build their own pension plans with tax-deductible dollars.

The practical meaning of this is that you, and other self-employed individuals, will no longer be forced to try to save funds for retirement after you have paid taxes on your present "peak years" income. You will now share the privilege previously enjoyed only by employees of corporations who have had the advantage of benefiting from various types of company pension and profit-sharing plans. Under the Law, you will have the opportunity of placing your funds in a tax-free fund that can grow until distribution...

a time in your life when whatever tax there is, will be far lower than what you are now paying.

Since the Law further provides that only banks and trust companies are permitted to administer retirement trusts for diversified investment, we invite you to consult with one of our experienced Trust Officers who can tell you about the advantages of a plan we have adopted for the investment and management of Self-Employed Retirement Trusts.

For more detailed information about this important new legislation and how it can be of benefit to you now and in the future, write or call our Trust Department for a copy of our booklet: Explanatory Summary of the Self-Employed Individuals Tax Retirement Act of 1962. There's no obligation.

"LORD, HELP ME"

...she cried. But it was too late. A duty had been shirked... a responsibility neglected...a damage done. Grief is evident. She overlooked an opportunity and a life was lost. Life? What is it?
St. James said, "Life is a vapor that appears only for a little while." Every worthwhile life spends its self serving others. Every good life has a vital glow...it lends meaning to many little deeds that is determined by a few great decisions. Then don't procrastinate. Don't have to repent in anguish for neglecting
God, His church or a friend. Be a faithful church-goer, a dependable community citizen, and a booster of all good things.
Then, whatsoever you ask in
His name shall be given.

Unbeaten Huskers Risk Lofty Status Against Buffs Today

By DON BRYANT
Star Sports Editor

Boulder, Colo. — Unbeaten Nebraska, on the verge of its first winning football season since 1954, will risk its lofty status against weakened, but dangerous, Colorado here this afternoon.

A crowd of 35,000 is expected to watch the potent Cornhuskers — Big 8 offensive leaders — clobber the already-battered Buffaloes at Folsom Field.

But the Buffs may have other ideas — primarily of an aerial nature — for this Homecoming contest which starts at 1:30 p.m.

Heavy Favorite

Nebraska is a heavy favorite after winning 5 straight games and averaging 31.8 points per game and 388.6 yards per game. One reason: Nebraska trounced Iowa State 36-22 and the Cyclones last week bombed the Buffs, 57-19.

But no such route is expected today, even by the 5,000 or more partisan Nebraska fans who will be in the stands rooting for the Huskers to run their string to 6-0.

Main reason for hesitancy is Colorado's league-leading passing attack, throttled by quarterbacks Frank Cesarek and Larry Ethridge, a pair of sophomore flingers who have accounted for 728 yards to date.

Receiving End

On the receiving end are 3 ends — all of whom play at one time in CU's pro-type offense — and halfback Leon Mavity, also a fine runner. Ends Blair and John McGuire have nabbed 23 and 21 passes, respectively, while Mavity has caught 7.

Nebraska's high hopes are based once again on the slick quarterbacking of Dennis Claridge — top yard producer in the Big 8 and No. 7 in the nation — plus a host of swift and powerful backs who rushed for 1240 yards.

The Huskers have also passed for 703 yards, giving them a salty 1,943-yard production in 5 games, easily the best in the loop.

Rushing Defense

Nebraska also boasts a solid rushing defense — last week holding Kansas State to a mere 38 yards — but the main worry in the NU camp is that Buff passers may be able to exploit some weakness in the Scarlet aerial defense.

NU went into the K-State game ranked No. 4 in the nation on pass defense, but the Wildcats gained 123 yards and one touchdown on their first two plays.

Scarlet coach Bob Devaney has revamped his pass defense this week, with heavy emphasis on rushing the passer.

A Nebraska victory will give the Huskers a 3-0 Big 8 record and set the stage for a showdown with the Missouri Tigers at Lincoln next week.

Cornhuskers N-Club Initiation Nearly As Tough As Earning The Letter Itself

Initiates into N-Club at the University of Nebraska went through the ceremonies pictured above this fall. The initiation started with the new members walking blindfolded across a rickety bridge (1). This was followed by some egg on the face (2) and a turn at kissing a goo-covered rock (3). Next came a slide down a muddy path (4) into a body of water (5). After crawling from the water and making their way back up the muddy bank, the initiates joined the active members for sandwiches and a cold drink. (Staff Photos by Web Ray).

Carry Back-Kelso Renew Battle For Horse Of The Year Honors

By Associated Press

Kelso and Carry Back renew their battle for Horse-of-the-Year honors today in the $100,000 added Man O'War Stakes at Belmont Park and Smart Deb rules the favorite in a field of 9 2-year-old fillies running in the $75,000 added Gardenia Stakes at Garden State Park.

Except for the Man O'War, the juveniles dominate today's program that also includes the $23,000 added Maryland Futurity for Maryland-bred 2-year-olds at Laurel. The $20,000 Golden Gate Freshman Handicap at Golden Gate Fields and the James H. Connors Memorial at Narragansett and the Goldenrod Stakes for 2-year-old fillies at Churchill Downs, each $15,000 added events.

Kelso, back in form after an earlier slump, was a 4-5 favorite to win the Man O'War to be run over the 1 1/2-mile Widener Grass Course at Belmont which was covered with a slight snow Friday.

Top Candidates

In addition to Mrs. Jack Price's Carry Back, top candidates opposing Mrs. Richard C. DuPont's Kelso include George D. Widener's Jaipur, a top candidate for 3-year-old honors; Beau Purple, winner of the $100,000 Hawthorne Gold Cup last week at Chicago; and the two French-bred invaders, Monade and Val de Loir.

Unless track conditions result in scratches, a field of 13 is expected to go to the post at Belmont. The gross value of the race would be $115,800 with $75,270 to the winner.

Kelso won the $100,000 Jockey Gold Cup at 2 miles last week. Carry Back has not raced since the Arc de Triomphe in Paris, Oct. 7 when he was unplaced. Monade was second and Val de Loir 3rd in that race. Carry Back beat Kelso, the 1960-1961 Horse of the Year, in the Metropolitan and Monmouth Park Handicaps.

Bruised Heel

Pams Ego, a $65,000 supplementary entry, was declared out of the Gardenia Friday morning because she suffered a bruised heel in a workout. Affectionately, the leading money winning 2-year-old filly of the year, had been withdrawn Thursday because of fluid in an ankle.

With a field of 9 juvenile fillies scheduled to run in the 1 1/2-mile race at Garden State, Smart Deb was the 8-5 favorite. The gross value was $159,995 with $95,996 to the winner.

DC Aquinas Rallies To Tie Pius, 14-14

David City — David City Aquinas came from behind with 14 points in the last half to tie Lincoln Pius X, 14-14, Friday night.

Pius opened the scoring on a one-yard pass play from Pat Fitzpatrick to Jim Sullivan in the second quarter and held a 7-0 halftime lead.

Tom McGovern electrified the crowd by returning the second half kickoff 95 yards and Mike Stepkovich kicked the second of two extra points to give the Thunderbolts a 14-0 lead. But Aquinas dominated the rest of the game.

Aquinas Scores

David City scored in the 3rd period in a two-yard run by Greg Meyersburg and Ron Hilger passed to LeRoy Kobza for the extra point. With 3 1/2 minutes remaining to be played Hilger passed to Pat Kirby for 39 yards and Aquinas' second tally. Hilger added the all-important extra point on a run to end the scoring in the game.

The Thunderbolts' first touchdown was set up as Jim Suters intercepted a David City pass on his own 30 and returned it to the Aquinas 7-yard line. Mike Ziegler added 6 yards to the one but there was no gain on the second down. Then Fitzpatrick flipped the one-yarder to Sullivan.

Twice in the first half Pius drives were thwarted, once by a fumble and the other by a pass interception. Pius X moved to the Aquinas 14 but fumbled and lost the ball. With time running out in the first half Ron Hilger intercepted a Thunderbolt pass in the end zone and returned it to the David City 24.

Mizzou Frosh Blanks Iowa State By 21-0

Columbia, Mo. (AP)—Missouri blanked Iowa State 21-0 in freshman football Friday.

Ken Boston of the Tigers recovered a teammates fumble in the Iowa State end zone to start the scoring in the first quarter.

It was Boston again in the second quarter, running a punt back 47 yards to the Iowa State 46-yard line and then plunging 4 yards for the touchdown as Missouri marched 46 yards in 6 plays.

In the 4th quarter the Tigers drove from the Iowa State 26-yard line and Jack Alton passed 9 yards to Dave Jones for the score. Robert Robben kicked all 3 extra points.

The Cyclones' only scoring threat came late in the second quarter when they marched 55 yards in 15 plays to the Missouri one-yard line. But the drive stalled there, and Missouri took over the ball on downs as the half ended.

Iowa State led Missouri in first downs 12 to 8, but the Tigers were ahead in rushing with 87 yards to 80. Missouri completed 4 of 5 passes for 59 yards, while Iowa State made only 5 of 19 for 55 yards.

Cornelius Perry was Iowa State's leading ground-gainer with 62 yards in 11 carries. Nebraska's freshmen meet Iowa State's yearlings in Ames Nov. 9.

Missouri Defense To Meet Iowa State Offense Today

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Writer

Columbia, Mo. — Iowa State and Missouri will be battling for "The Telephone" here today, but there is more at stake for the homestanding Tigers than a telephone.

Missouri must win today to keep its unbeaten record intact, with only a tie against Minnesota marring an otherwise perfect record. The Tigers are 4-0-1 and hope to carry a 5-0-1 mark into next Saturday's crucial battle against Nebraska at Lincoln.

The battle for "The Telephone" started two years ago when the phone company donated it as an apology for some troubles in the circuits linking spotters and team benches before the 1959 contest. For a while it appeared each team was going to hear the other's spotters' until the gremlins just before the kickoff.

The contest could turn into an individual battle between two of the Big 8's top rushers — Johnny Roland of Missouri and Dave Hoppmann of Iowa State, but more likely it will be Missouri's defense against the Cyclones' offense.

Roland is leading the Big 8 rushers with just under a 6-yard average on 88 carries while Hoppmann ranks 3rd in rushing. The Iowa State star is the scoring leader with 30 points in Big 8 play and 48 for the season. Roland is tied with Nebraska's Dennis Claridge in Big 8 scoring with 24 points — good enough for second place.

One of the big questions is whether Missouri's tough ground defense can stop an Iowa State backfield with a trio of fast steppers in Hoppmann, Ozzie Clay and Tom Vaughn.

Fast Scoring Pace

The Cyclones have been traveling at a hectic scoring pace but have been unable to stop anyone with their defense. Only Nebraska has scored more points than Iowa State in 5 games this season, but only Kansas State and Colorado have given up more points than the Cyclones.

In recent years, Missouri has been extremely stingy in allowing Iowa State's star backs much yardage. Missouri fans like to remember 1959 when the Tigers held Dwight Nichols to zero rushing yards in an all-America season for the Cyclone standout.

The next year Tom Watkins was held to 44 yards and last season the Tigers' forward wall stopped Hoppmann with the Iowa State tailback — he will be at quarterback today — getting only 16 yards on the ground.

Offense Changed

But after being beaten 4 straight times by Missouri's Dan Devine, Iowa State Coach Clay Stapleton has scrapped his old single wing and is now running out of a single wing T formation.

An estimated 40,000 fans are expected to fill Memorial Stadium to see if Iowa State's array of backs can penetrate a Missouri defense that has not yielded a touchdown on the ground this season.

The Bengals are ranked 7th nationally in total defense, 10th in rushing defense and have out-scored 5 foes, 93-23.

The Tigers top two right halfbacks, Bill Tobin and Carl Crawford, have been slowed by injuries this week and may see only limited duty. Ken Hinkle and Vince Tobin, brother of Bill, have been alternating at the right halfback post in this week's practices.

Limerick Back

Cyclone fans got good news this week when star pass catcher Dick Limerick got the go-ahead for today's game. The Sioux City, Iowa, native has missed the last two contests with an inner ear ailment that affected his balance.

Stapleton aid Limerick won't start, but will fill in during the game.

"I hope the squad is ready for a very tough, solid Missouri club," Stapleton said. "I hope we can give them a run for their money."

Early in the week, Stapleton had vowed that he would take only "hard-hitters" on the trip to Missouri "even if we take only 11 men to the game." But the Iowa State coach apparently found more than 11 "hard-hitters" as the 36-man Cyclone squad arrived here Friday afternoon.

Hastings Makes Big Ten Playoff

By CONDE SARGENT
Prep Sports Writer
Grand Island — Hastings will play in the Big 10 Conference playoff—but just by a hair.

The big Tigers claimed a 19-13 victory over Grand Island Friday night to win the East Division's berth in the playoffs on November 9.

It was a brilliantly played game, sparked by two fine quarterbacks, with Grand Island's hopes of an upset dying at the Hastings' goal line in the last minute.

After a 6-0 Hastings' half-time advantage, Grand Island suddenly had the right offense and charged into a 13-6 lead before Tiger quarterback Wayne Weber aroused Hastings for a 19-13 final break.

Weber won an individual dual with Grand Island's fine junior, John Sanders, only because Hastings won the game. Sanders hit 11 of 20 passes for 203 yards and the go-ahead touchdown in the 3rd period.

Weber completed 4 of 9 for 99 yards but two of those set up the Hastings' touchdown in the second half. The Hastings red head ran well, however, to off-set Sander's advantage in the passing department.

Starts With Bang
Grand Island started the 3rd quarter with a bang, with the 4,000 fans quick to smell an upset.

Speedster, Tom Millsap, joined with Sanders for the first GI score. An 11-yard pass to the track star and 22 and 15-yard runs by Millsap broke the ice early in the second half. Bob Sutter's placement was good.

Less than 4 minutes later, Sanders drilled a 44-yard scoring toss to John Linton and GI led, 13-6.

Weber went to work, scoring two times before the final quarter was half over.

Key Plays

Two Weber to Tom Smith passes were the key plays.

In both instances, the huge Hastings end made the reception after Grand Island defenders had deflected slightly the passes.

Just as Hastings seemed to have its 3rd Big 10 playoff berth, Sanders drilled a 51-yard pass to Linton which carried to the Hastings' 5-yard line.

Four Grand Island thrusts at the line got no farther than the 6-inch line, where Grand Island boosters claimed Sutter crashed over on 4th down.

A minute was left and Weber carried until time ran out.

Pro Leaders Seek Revenge Sunday

... REDSKINS PLAY GIANTS

By JACK HAND
New York (AP)—Washington and Green Bay, the two unbeaten teams in the National Football League, have the revenge motive on their side in Sunday's most important games.

The Redskins, whose rookie quarterback Norm Snead was smothered twice for safeties in a 53-0 rout at Yankee Stadium last year, hope to get even with the New York Giants now that Snead has matured as a pro sophomore.

Vince Lombardi's Green Bay Packers, winners of 6 straight this year, absorbed their only lopsided beating last year at the hands of Baltimore, 45-21. The defending champs haven't forgotten that indignity as they head into the Colts' home park again.

The other clubs in both Eastern and Western Conferences will be looking to the Giants and Colts to do something about stopping a runaway. Washington is 4-0-2 and Green Bay is 6-0. Sunday marks the half way point in the 14-game schedule.

Cleveland and Pittsburgh, each 3-3, meet at Pitt Stadium in a game that could crush the loser's hopes of an Eastern Conference comeback. Up and-coming Dallas entertains St. Louis with the Cowboys 3-2-1 a contender when—and if—Washington loses.

Chicago and Detroit, tied for second in the West, two games behind Green Bay, play at Detroit. The Bears come off a win over Baltimore and the Lions off a gruelling losing game with New York.

San Francisco and Los Angeles clash for the first time this year with the 49ers still in the race at 3-3 and the Rams looking for their first win after 6 defeats.

Norm Van Brocklin has his Minnesota Vikings waiting for his old Philadelphia Eagles mates. With the Eagles in a slump and the Dutchman anxious to impress, there could be some blood-letting in this one at Minnesota.

In the American Football League, Oakland played at Boston Friday night. In 3 Sunday games it will be San Diego at New York; Buffalo at Denver and Dallas at Houston.

And here are the picks (record so far, 35-23-2 for 603%):

NFL

Green Bay 31, Baltimore 14—Packers pack too much power up front even without Paul Hornung. Look for Bart Starr to riddle Colts' deep defense.

San Francisco 31, Los Angeles 21—J. D. Smith and Co. find Rams' line easy but Jon Arnett and Dick Bass can run on 49ers, too.

New York 28, Washington 21—Y.A. Tittle throws too many bombs for Skins despite Norm Snead-Bobby Mitchell combination.

Philadelphia 24, Minnesota 14—Fired up Sonny Jurgensen ruins hopes of the Old Dutchman in meeting of also-rans. Injury to Hugh McElhenny could swing balance.

Dallas 30, St. Louis 14—Cowboys smell shot at title and won't let feeble Cards get in their way. Eddie LeBaron and Frank Clarke take apart Cards' pass defense.

Detroit 27, Chicago 10—Lions bounce back from Giants' game with Nick Pietrosante and Dan Lewis rolling on ground.

Pittsburgh 21, Cleveland 20—John Henry Johnson and Joe Womack let Bobby Layne control ball. Jimmy Brown due for a big day but that front 4 of the Steelers can be rough.

AFL
Denver 27, Buffalo 14—Denver to keep on rolling with Frank Tripucka. Broncos just did beat them at Buffalo 23-20.

Dallas 21, Houston 17—If Denver could handle Houston, so can Dallas with Len Dawson and Abner Haynes.

San Diego 28, New York 14—Battle of crippled teams but Chargers did murder Titans 40-14 earlier in season.

Sonny Talks: Says He Doesn't Need Manager

... MAY MOVE FROM PHILADELPHIA

Chicago (AP)—Heavyweight boxing champion Sonny Liston returned to Chicago Friday for the first time since he dethroned Floyd Patterson Sept. 25 and said:

1. He didn't need a manager (although George Katz of Philadelphia is his manager of record).

2. He's ready to give Patterson his entitled rematch any time, any place.

3. He may move his home from Philadelphia, "where I'm still treated like a bum," to Chicago or Detroit.

Liston made these pronouncements at a press conference at a downtown restaurant.

There, with his wife, Geraldine, and several aides—including two state's attorney staff detectives who were his bodyguards before the Patterson fight—the champion cautiously, and humorously, parried with reporters.

16 Whooping Cranes Sighted By Authorities

Washington (AP)—Sixteen Whooping Cranes—all adults—have now arrived at their wintering grounds on the southeastern coast of Texas, the Interior Department said Friday.

The latest aerial count, made Thursday, showed 14 cranes in the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge and two others on Matagorda Island, which lies about 3 miles east of Aransas.

A record of 38 of the scarce birds, including 5 young, migrated northward last spring. Canadian wildlife authorities reported that no Young-Of-The-Year cranes were sighted during aerial reconnaissance of the nesting grounds this year.

Liston said he knew nothing of a reported February rematch with Patterson in Miami. The first fight contract called for a rematch within a year with each fighter getting 30% of all receipts, compared with Liston's 12½ and Patterson's 55 of ancillary rights and 45% of the gate on Sept. 25.

The Internal Revenue Service seized up to $5 million of the fight proceeds the night of the fight pending settlement of tax obligations by the promoters (Championship Sports, Inc.).

An IRS spokesman said that a portion of the proceeds seized had been released to the promoters Friday but neither the spokesman nor Tom Bolan of Championship Sports would say how much.

Liston said he wasn't concerned about the $50,000 spot guarantee and some $220,000 reportedly to be held in escrow until he meets Patterson again.

Liston said there was no truth to reports that Frank Leahy, former Notre Dame football coach, might become his manager. "I don't need no manager," said the champion. "What fight can he get me?"

Rosenstock New Gloves Chairman

A new fight site and new chairman were named Thursday night for Lincoln's 1963 Golden Gloves program.

Wes Rosenstock is the new chairman and the bouts will be held Feb. 1-2 at the Fairgrounds 4-H arena. Both announcements came from John Kahler, overall athletic committee chairman for Lincoln's American Legion Post No. 3.

Six teams are already training toward the Southeast Nebraska District competition. Lincoln boasts 3 teams with one each in Syracuse, Falls City and Fairbury.

Rosenstock said at least one and possibly two big smokers are being planned prior to the district tourney. They too will be held at the 4-H building.

Crete Tops Field In Cross Country

Crete may be a serious contender for the Class B state high school cross-country championship.

The Cardinals defeated Southeast and Beatrice Friday in a meet at Pioneer's Park, taking the first two places. Triangular scores were Crete 24, Southeast 27, and Beatrice 39.

The meet also was a 3-way dual with Crete getting two wins and Southeast the nod over Beatrice.

Crete's Joel Douglass was the individual winner. Dennis Pittman of Adams finished 3rd. Pittman was the only runner for his school.

The top ten:

Runner	Time
1. Joel Douglass, Crete	9:50
2. John Vasek, Crete	9:57
3. Dennis Pittman, Adams	10:06
4. Frank Schultz, Southeast	10:08
5. Larry Foster, Southeast	10:12
6. Dean Beck, Crete	10:17
7. Bob Enz, Beatrice	10:20
8. Mike Conners, Southeast	10:24
9. Gary Meyers, Beatrice	10:27
10. Joe Stroh, Southeast	10:28

PINCH BRINGS RETALIATION IN AUTO RACE PIT

Buenos Aires (UPI) — Argentines, like Italians, cannot resist the temptation to pinch when they see a pretty girl.

The victim was curvaceous Swedish automobile racer Ursula Wirth, co-driver of the winning Mercedes Benz in a race Thursday.

Just before the start of the race at the Argentine Automobile Club Ursula bent for a last tightening up of the wheel nuts of her racer.

It was too much for an ardent mechanic who pinched the glamorous, golden-haired Swedish miss.

The furious Ursula straightened up and almost brained the man with her wrench.

A roar went up from the huge crowd and a policeman had to fire two shots in the air before quiet was restored.

Lightweight Backs Spark St. Cecilia

By DON SUMMERSIDE
Star Sports Writer

A lightweight backfield with a lot of determination sparked the Hastings St. Cecilia team to a 20-12 football victory over Falls City Sacred Heart at Pius X's Vap Stadium Friday night.

Led by the brother combination of Jack and Kenny Stark, who tip the scales at 138 and 133 pounds respectively, the Bluehawks marched 75 yards with the opening kickoff to notch the first score.

Kenny, running from the left halfback post, contributed runs of 27 and 18 yards during the drive. Greg Buttell, a 150-pound fullback, took a handoff from quarterback Jack Stark and ripped off 19 yards for the last 19 yards.

Play Assortment
The Sacred Heart Irish, mixing up a colorful assortment of double reverses and halfback passes, then managed a drive of their own that moved to the St. Cecilia 27 before being stalled on downs.

Following an exchange of punts, the Bluehawks recovered a Falls City fumble on the Irish 41 and with right half Frank Harsh (145 pounds) contributing valuable yardage, moved in for score No. 2. Jack Stark sneaked the last 3 yards to give the Bluehawks a 13-0 margin early in the second period.

Passes Connect

The Sacred Heart fans came to life late in the second quarter as the Bluehawk quarterbacks began connecting with 6-6 senior end Mike Simon.

With Simon and sophomore quarterback Joe Miller carrying most of the load, the Irish stormed 71 yards to lessen the deficit to 13-7 with 1:06 remaining in the half.

A 3-yard TD pass from Miller to Simon capped the drive.

The second half saw the Hastings crew assume command of the game.

Fumble Halts Drive
A fumble on the Sacred Heart 21-yard line halted the first St. Cecilia offensive, but after taking the ball back 4 downs later, the Bluehawks marched 54 yards for the clincher.

Kenny Stark's one-yard plunge climaxed the belly-series drive in which the Bluehawk offensive line opened generous holes.

St. Cecilia's defensive forces then took charge for the rest of the contest, weakening only in the final seconds to permit a 79-yard scoring march by Sacred Heart.

Miller kept the ball for the final yard.

Defensive Bulwark
Credit for the St. Cecilia offensive show was pretty well divided between the 4 starting bantamweight backs.

Mike Brooks, a 200-pound tackle, was the bulwark of the defensive wall.

Sacred Heart: TDs, Mike Simon (3, pass from Joe Miller); Miller (1, run). St. Cecilia: TDs, Greg Buttell (19, run); Jack Stark (3, run); Kenny Stark (1, run). PATs, Frank Harsh (run); K. Stark (pass from J. Stark).

Cappelletti Scores 20 To Lead Boston

. . . COMEBACK WIN, 26-16

Boston (AP)—Larry Garron's brilliant 40-yard weakside sweep propelled Boston to a patented 26-16 comeback victory over Oakland Friday night while teammate Gino Cappelletti scored 20 Patroit points.

With Cappelletti's accurate toe as its only first half weapon, Boston rallied from a 13-6 deficit for its 5th American Football League triumph against two losses. The defeat was the 13th straight for the stubborn Raiders.

Oakland just wouldn't cave in and rallied for a 16-16 deadlock at 1:57 of the 4th quarter on a 19-yard Cotton Davidson field goal. Davidson had set it up via a 71-yard pass play to Alan Miller.

Less than two minutes later Boston quarterback Babe Parrilli deftly faked a handoff in the direction of the flanked end, then slipped the ball to Garron who burst to the sideline, spun past two futilely clutching defenders and completed the big play.

Cappelletti wound up with field goals of 24, 17, 31, and 10 yards, an end zone grab of a 13-yard Parrilli pass and two conversion boots.

Oakland's Bo Roberson, who plagued the winners all night, raced 63 yards on a sweep for a touchdown after Davidson threw his first scoring pass of the season—a 34-yarder to Dobie Craig.

Plan Would Split Gage Meet Sites

Omaha (AP)—A proposal that the State High School Basketball Tournament be split between Omaha and Lincoln was advanced at the District 2 session of the Nebraska School Activities Association Friday.

The proposal was set forth by Jerry Koch of Omaha Westside High School on behalf of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce.

Koch said an example would be to have Class A and D play in Omaha while B and C played in Lincoln, starting, he suggested, in 1964 with the classes alternating in 1965.

The suggestion received unanimous approval and now will go before the NSAA Delegate Assembly in Lincoln on Dec. 6.

Also passed was a resolution that Class A schools be permitted to hold Christmas Holiday tournaments in Omaha. This idea also will go before the delegate assembly.

SHOES, NOT BOOZE, CAUSES SWIMMING STAR TO SWAY

Miami, Fla. (AP)—It was shoes, not booze, that caused former Olympic swimming star Eleanor Holm to sway after her car rammed another from the rear on Sept. 19, her attorney said.

What's more, said the attorney for the 49-year-old former wife of showman Billy Rose in Traffic Court on Thursday, she was cold sober.

Officer L. A. Casale testified that the famous woman swimmer flunked her finger-to-nose test. Miss Holm countered that she has "What you call a lazy eye. I can't get a driver's license without my glasses."

Casale also testified that she walked with a sway. That's when the defense attorney brought up the matter of Miss Holm's shoes. He produced the open-heeled walkers.

Drunkometer operator D. L. Printz conceded that walking backward in thongs might be difficult but he said, "I wouldn't know. I never tried."

Miss Holm, who lives at Miami Beach, admitted having a couple of weak scotch and sodas 4 hours before her car struck one driven by Leo Zeltner, 69, on the rain-slicked road, but she said she ate a steak dinner after having the drinks.

Judge Thomas G. O'Connell ruled that Miss Holm was innocent of drunken driving but fined her $45 for careless driving.

GOP Raps Blockade Timing

Washington (AP) — The Republican Congressional Campaign Committee suggested Friday that the timing of President Kennedy's Cuban blockade proclamation was aimed at winning votes next month and that it indicated a "reluctance to crack down hard" on Fidel Castro.

Questioning the real intent of Kennedy's move, the committee said in a news letter there were doubts about Kennedy's get-tough intentions — "many of them based on what horse players call 'past performance' about the President's actions."

"The New Frontiersman" said in a "communist pattern" with the communists everywhere else in the world had been so sharp for so long that few could believe it could change so suddenly, the committee said. "The New Frontier's kid gloves policy toward Cuba for the past 21 months just did not jibe with the President's tough words about Cuba."

The letter said the statement "that it was only because the White House had just discovered the existence on Cuba of missiles capable of striking American cities sounded brazenly false inasmuch as this had been known for months."

Doubts about the President's proclamation were strengthened, the news letter said, by these situations:

— 72 hours after the President's announcement of the blockade, no Soviet vessel had been intercepted although at the time, the committee said, 25 Red ships reportedly steaming toward Cuba were less than one day away.

(The Pentagon has said a dozen of the ships turned back and one tanker was checked through afterward. A Soviet chartered ship was boarded and searched Friday and let go, the Navy said, after no banned weapons were found aboard.)

— The proclamation failed to order search of vessels bearing offensive weapons to Cuba, the GOP group said, but merely authorized the secretary of defense to do so.

— "If the selected ships were to refuse to obey the heavy order, then it would be halted by force, perhaps by crippling its rudder," the letter went on. "No mention was made of the 25 Soviet vessels supposedly loaded with cargo — much of it contraband under the terms of the original Kennedy proclamation and supposedly steaming unmolested toward Havana."

NAVY WIVES SURPRISED

By The Associated Press

Two Navy wives expressed surprise and relief Friday upon learning that their husbands led boarding parties onto the Lebanese freighter Maruca.

"At least I know where he is now," said Mrs. Kathryn Osborne of Norfolk, Va. Her husband, Lt. Cmdr. Dwight G. Osborne, 36, led an American boarding party onto the Soviet-chartered freighter from the U.S. destroyer Pierce.

"I feel a lot better about that," Mrs. Osborne added. "But I wish he'd come home." Mrs. Osborne, mother of two daughters, said her husband told her last Monday to have his clothes cleaned and get them down to the Pierce. She said: "I did and that's the last time I saw him."

The other startled Navy wife was Mrs. Kenneth C. Reynolds of Middletown, R.I., whose husband, Lt. Cmdr. Reynolds, led a boarding party from the U.S. destroyer Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Mrs. Reynolds described her husband's role in the interception of Maruca as a "complete surprise" to her. She added she was very happy to know her husband had not encountered difficulty in the boarding mission.

Mrs. Reynolds was out shopping during Friday morning and learned of the news when she returned home. The elder of her two daughters, Nancy, 11, was busy taking down telephone messages from friends and newsmen.

Morrison, Seaton To Appear At NU

Final arrangements were completed Friday for a joint appearance on the University of Nebraska campus next Monday by Gov. Frank Morrison and Republican gubernatorial nominee Fred Seaton.

The appearance will take place in the Student Union ballroom beginning at 3 p.m. Dr. A. C. Breckenridge, vice chancellor of the University, will serve as moderator at the hour and a half confrontation.

The event is being sponsored by the Student Council. According to rules agreed to by both candidates and their representatives, each speaker will receive 15 minutes for opening statements.

Queries By Council

These statements will answer questions submitted by the Student Council, namely: 1. Why and how should the tax base of Nebraska be broadened? If it should not be, why?

2. How can the University of Nebraska be built into the outstanding educational institution in the Midwest?

3. What should be the role and power of the governor of the state of Nebraska?

4. What other issues do you feel are relevant in this campaign and why?

Audience Questions

Following opening statements, written questions will be accepted from the audience and screened by the moderator "for relevance to issues, good taste and propriety."

Breckenridge will then submit the questions to the candidates. Either candidate may comment on the other's answer.

Each speaker will be permitted 5 minutes for closing statements. The meeting will be adjourned at 4:30 p.m.

"Neither candidate is permitted to introduce extraneous matters or persons or indulge in personal references to the other which, in the opinion of the moderator, are not germane to the purposes," according to the rules.
